Savage Battles

Report 380 Killed, Three MIGs Downed

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnamese and South Korean troops reported killing 380 Communist soldiers in two savage battles Friday while, over North Vietnam, American carrier pilots blasted three MIGs from the sky and probably downed a fourth.

The aerial action was the first significant dogfight over the North in six weeks.

South Vietnamese headquarters said an elite airborne battalion killed 240 enemy soldiers in northernmost Quang Tri Province along the coastal plain in a fight with what was evidently a Communist battalion of about 500 men. The Communists were reported to have abandoned 89 weapons on the field.

About 100 miles to the south in coastal Binh Dinh Province, troopers of South Korea's White Horse Division overran jungle headquarters of the Viet Cong's 95th Regiment and reported killing 140 guerrillas. They captured 70 weapons.

The Koreans were still in pursuit of scattered guerrilla forces at last report. They said their losses were light.

The South Vietnamese did not announce their casualties.

Heavy Communist weapons losses in both fights indicated clear-cut victories for the allies.

U.S. Command announced two American coastal amphibious assaults to seek out Communist units which have avoided battle for 11 days. The landings were in the Mekong delta and just below the demilitarized zone.

Two American Crusader jets were shot up in the air battle 20 miles north of Haiphong but made it safely back to the carrier Bon Homme Richard in the Tonkin Gulf 130 miles off the North Vietnamese coast.

It was the first big air battle since the North Vietnamese virtually grounded their air force six weeks ago after losing five jets within three days. Eight MIGs came out last Wednesday but fled when fired on by Air Force pilots.

The Navy Crusader pilots were flying cover ahead of other jets coming in to attack a fuel dump when about eight MIG17s "popped up out of the clouds."

For the next seven minutes the opposing fliers—each group numbered about eight planes—criss-crossed the skies with rockets and cannon fire.

The American pilots reported that they saw three of the MIG pilots eject from stricken planes. They believed a fourth pilot also ejected but this claim remained a "probable" pending evaluation of gun films aboard the Bon Homme Richard.

ABC-ITT Merger Blocked

Claim Action Would Hurt The Public

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department moved today to block a proposed merger of American Broadcasting Companies, Inc., and the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., contending it would hurt the public.

First the department filed with a U.S. Court of Appeals notice that it will seek to overturn the Federal Communications Commission's approval of the merger.

A short time later, it filed a request for a temporary restraining order to prevent the merger from being put into effect tonight. The companies' earlier agreement to delay the merger expires then.

A hearing on the request for delay was scheduled for afternoon.

In previous instances in which the department has asked it, the two companies have voluntarily agreed to hold off the merger. But an official of one of the companies told a reporter that the era of cooperation is over and the Justice Department now will have to fight for what it wants.

In seeking to overturn the FCC decision, the department told the court the merger would be "likely to result in substantial detriment to the public."

The department said the FCC acted to approve the 2.8-billion merger—biggest ever in broadcasting—"without making a proper analysis of the competitive effects" and erroneously approved the transaction.

In a 10-page notice of appeal the department said the FCC "gave undue and unwarranted weight" to assurances by ITT as to the future conduct of the merged companies. ITT had given assurances that it would maintain the substantial autonomy of the ABC network—and in particular its news operation.

The department also rejected one of the principal reasons the commission used in approving the merger—that ABC badly needs money to modernize and that ITT is the only source. The department said this conclusion is not supported by the evidence.

Announcement of the Justice Department's planned action today sent ABC common stocks plummeting Thursday on the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange, while ITT stock prices gained.

Diverted Acres Are Released

The secretary of agriculture has authorized grazing and harvesting hay from diverted acres in Pettis County. The diverted acres signed in the Feed Grain, Conservation Reserve and Cropland Adjustment Programs may be released by making application at the Pettis County ASCS Office.

The Pettis County ASC Committee, consisting of Sam Hieronymus, Bruce Claycomb and Robert Rissler will approve these applications, and determine the charge for the value of the grazing or hay harvested.

Producers must sign up before the diverted acres are used; otherwise penalties for violation of program provisions will apply.

Arabians Resisting Pressure

Soviets Seeking Acceptance Of UN Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union was reported trying to persuade Arab nations today to accept a U.S.-supported compromise linking the withdrawal of Israeli occupation forces with the end of the Arabs' 19-year-old state of war against Israel. But the Arabs, led by Syria and Algeria, were reported adamantly resisting the Soviet pressure.

The 122-nation General Assembly, seeking agreement on a resolution before it ends its five-week emergency session on the Middle East crisis, was to meet this afternoon. Some diplomats expected another quick adjournment until Saturday or Monday to give the compromise efforts more time.

East European sources said the Russians were attempting to reach a compromise on the basis of a modification of the Latin- American resolution they rejected earlier. It called for Israel to pull its troops out of Egypt, Jordan and Syria if the Arabs ended their state of belligerency, and informed sources said the revised draft preserved the principle of reciprocity.

Despite the reported Soviet reversal and the Arabs' dependence on the Russians to make up their losses in the June 5-10 war, diplomats said Algeria and Syria were holding out for an assembly demand for unconditional withdrawal of Israeli forces. This along with the Latin-American resolution failed on July 4 to muster the two-thirds majority necessary for approval.

In Tel Aviv, informed sources said Soviet arms shipments to Egypt to replace losses in the war have included limited numbers of the new MIG23 and Sukhoio fighters, as well as about 200 earlier models of the aircraft and quantities of tanks and artillery. Israeli estimates put Egyptian plane losses at about 500.

In London, where reports of Soviet wishes for a compromise between Arabs and Israelis arrived from various capitals, British officials appeared convinced that the Soviet military replacements are likely to be far below the level needed for any new Arab campaign.

The Suez Canal cease-fire line was quiet again Thursday.

Powell's Son In New York

Father May Return To End 'Exile'

NEW YORK (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell's son arrived at Kennedy airport today and said "we'll know very soon" about a report his father was returning to New York from a self-imposed exile of a year and a half.

The son, Adam Clayton Powell Jr., brushed off other questions and left the airport with Henry Williams and William Chance, his father's lawyers.

A spokesman for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had said the deposed congressman was en route to New York to appeal a citation for criminal contempt of court.

In the meantime, it was learned that Powell had made plans to leave Bimini today. His travel plans and destination were not learned.

The NAACP spokesman said Powell was to be met at the airport by the city sheriff, who would place him under technical arrest. He said Powell would not be detained.

The arrangement was worked out with the courts by Robert L. Carter, chief legal counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Henry Williams, Powell's Harlem lawyer.

The lawyers will go into State Supreme Court today and seek an application for a stay of court order requiring his arrest. They also seek an order to appeal the contempt citation.

Work On Slogan

About 600 Delegates At Black Power Meet

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — From black nationalists to the NAACP, about 600 delegates to the first national conference on black power are gathered here today intent on making the once-divisive slogan a working symbol of Negro unity.

All whites, including newsmen, were formally excluded from all working sessions and delegates, including the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee's Chairman H. Rapp Brown, were asked not to give individual news conferences.

But the tone of the orientation session Thursday set by Negro comedian Dick Gregory and Los Angeles black nationalist Ron Karenga, was not so much anti-white as problack and antiwhite exploitation.

Some speakers pointed out what they considered absurdities in the way the United States expects its nonwhite citizens to behave.

'If whitey thinks he's going to send me to Vietnam to risk my life for instant freedom for a man who looks more like me than he (whitey) does while my wife and kids back home get freedom on the installment plan, he's got to be sick," Gregory said to a storm of applause.

The main question, to be debated over three days in a series of 14 concurrent workshops, is what sort of action and organization Negroes should unite behind.

"Everybody knows whitey's a devil, the question is what are you going to do about it?" asked Karenga.

Delegates come from almost all political factions of the Negro community.

Some of those present Thursday included William Booth, chairman of the New York City Commission on Human Rights; James Farmer, former national director of the Congress of Racial Equality and his black power oriented successor Floyd McKissick; James Meredith, actor Ossie Davis and his actress wife Ruby Dee, and the Rev. Jesse Jackson, official representative of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Several delegates, including Booth, are members of various factions within the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which has denounced the idea of black power as "self-defeating."

Many are young, but the young by no means dominate in terms of numbers.

Keep your group, he said, but come to your senses. "Remember, we're all catching hell from the white man. The first step in political knowledge is that you need power, and power comes from unity. That's the only power we've got."

Plan a Campaign

To Fight Decision On Disbanding VOR

Four basic moves to combat a Federal Aviation Administration plan to decommission the Blackwater VOR station were discussed at a special meeting by the Sedalia Airport Board at the office of Sedalia Industrial Development Director William Hall Thursday evening.

The board decided, (a): to prepare a brochure for a hearing relative to the need for the Blackwater VOR station; (b): contact all instrument rated pilots to give testimony at the hearing; (c): seek support from other communities receivng benefit from the Blackwater station; and (d): continue to maintain communication with congressmen, senators and state officials on the subject.

Hall, who has undertaken the job of coordinating all correspondence on the issue, said that one point stressed at the meeting was the effect of closing the station on the Missouri State Fair.

Discussion at the meeting apparently centered around the fact that the decommissioning of the station, delayed yesterday by a 45-day extension, could be detrimental to Fair attendance.

Hall added, however, that this is only one side of the issue. Closing of the VOR station, which guides instrument aircraft to airports in the area, could also have economic repercussions.

Air service and traffic to and from Sedalia could be seriously affected by the closing, Hall said. The VOR's primary value comes when skies are overcast and planes must rely on instruments to land safely.

Attending the meeting were Dr. H. O. Wilbur, chairman of the airport board, and board members Dean Johnson, John Pelham and Louis Hughes; E. L. Eickhoff, pilot for the Menefee Construction Co.; Don Schaefferkoetter, chief pilot for Trans-Mo Airlines and Bill Asel, Trans-Mo owner and president; Gary Cooper of the Chamber of Commerce; and Hall.

No definite date on the hearing has been set, Hall said, but apparently it will be in Sedalia some time next month.

Montreal Given US Pavilion

MONTREAL (AP)—The United States gave its bubble-shaped Expo 67 pavilion to Montreal Thursday, and at least 10 other countries plan to do the same, but it's anybody's guess what the city will do with the showplaces after the fair closes in three months.

Whatever appears in the fair's place-suggestions include a giant university, an international research and development center and an international meeting site — officials say it will cost plenty of money to prepare the buildings for the rigors of Canadian winter.

Officially the site is leased to Expo until Dec. 31, 1969, when it reverts to the city. The city gets St. Helen's Island and manmade Notre Dame Island. The National Harbors Board gets Cite du Havre, the extension of mainland Montreal on which Expo's administration and several exhibition buildings are located.

Expo is essentially a summer fair, and one Expo source estimated it would cost 150 million to winterize all its buildings.

The future of Expo after closing day is in the hands of a committee representing the three governments financing the world's fair. Besides Montreal, the Canadian government is assuming half the fair's expected 137 million deficit and Quebec province is assuming 37.5 per cent.

Expo officials say until the committee decides something they are still planning to demolish all buildings on the fair site by next July 1.

Feel Tremor In Eastern Missouri

ST. LOUIS (AP) — An earth tremor of about one minute's duration shook several points in southeastern Missouri early today.

In Poplar Bluff, a deputy of the Butler County sheriff's office said the tremor occurred at 4:15. He said it was so strong it shook plaster loose from the ceiling of the county courthouse.

Radio station KMOX in St. Louis, 170 miles to the north, reported it received about 25 telephone calls in 10 minutes asking if there had been an earthquake. One newsman awakened by the tremor said "it shook the whole house."

One of the most severe earthquakes ever recorded in the United States centered in southwest Missouri near New Madrid in 1811.

Blackwell Files For Lt. Gov.

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—State Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, filed today for the Democratic nomination for the office of lieutenant governor.

Blackwell, who has served in the Senate nine years, becomes the third candidate to file for the Democratic nomination to the office.

In discussing his decision to run Blackwell said he is firmly convinced that Lt. Gov. Thomas F. Eagleton will become a candidate for the U.S. Senate. Blackwell said Eagleton had not told him this but he believes this is what Eagleton will do.

In the event Eagleton stays in the race for lieutenant governor Blackwell said he would cross that bridge when he came to it.

Blackwell said he had told Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of his intention to file for lieutenant governor and as far as support from the governor Blackwell said he is sure the governor will have a lot of friends in the primary election, some of them opposing each other.

Blackwell is 43, married and the father of four children. He received his law degree from Washington University in 1951.

New Trans-Mo Flight Added

Trans-Mo Airlines has added a new flight to its Sedalia schedule, according to William Hall, Sedalia industrial development director.

Trans-Mo has been serving Sedalia with two flights daily, except Saturdays and Sundays. The new flight time calls for planes to arrive here at 10:10 a.m. and leave at 10:15 a.m. on the west-bound route, arriving in Kansas City at 11 a.m.

The airline offers scheduled commuter services in St. Louis, Jefferson City, Sedalia and Kansas City.

Dispute Leads To Walkout

CHESTERTON, Ind. (AP) — A dispute centered around job advancement in a roll mill of the sprawling Bethlehem Steel Corp. plant near here erupted into a work stoppage today.

Officials of Local 6787 of the United Steel Workers refused to comment, but union members told newsmen the stoppage resulted from complaints in the 8-inch roll mill about job advancement.

The workers said men with seniority were being sidestepped by new men. The company issued a terse statement and would not venture beyond the statement.

It said in part that "the work stoppage was in violation of a no-strike provision of the agreement" between the company and the union.

The pickets paced outside the plant entrances. Union construction workers honored the line.

The plant is about 15 miles east of Gary on the Shore of Lake Michigan. About 1,600 union members are engaged at the plant.

A spokesman inside the plant told a newsman that the work stoppage had "virtually shut down operations."

Two Injured

Violence In Minneapolis

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rock throwing, at least two shootings and a dozen small fires were reported as violence flared up in Minneapolis, Minn., Thursday night and early today.

A police inspector said the second outbreak in two nights occurred on the Negro North Side of the city. There were no fatalities from the shootings but two injuries.

Earlier, Mayor Arthur Naftalin blamed the Wednesday night outbreak of street fights and firebombing on a few "lawless" individuals and said the Negro community was not at fault.

"We're dealing with a few individuals who want to inflame the community," he said. "For many days rumors of impeding trouble have been circulating. In certain measure it was organized around the rumors themselves."

In Durham, N.C., some 300 Negroes staged a relatively peaceful march to City Hall to underline their demands for better housing and other social reforms.

A battalion of National Guardsmen was dismissed after the march, but a small number of the guardsmen remained on the scene where policemen, sheriff's deputies and state highway patrolmen—all heavily armed—lined the route of the march.

An organizer of the march, Ben Ruffin, said, "We went downtown to demonstrate to the white folks we could march peacefully. Now they can take the money they spent on all those police and spend it for improvements."

A group of Negro leaders in Cairo, Ill., warned the city officials Thursday to expect more racial violence if demands were not met by Sunday afternoon.

"Cairo will look like Rome burning down," if the Negroes don't obtain their satisfaction, one of their spokesmen said.

The Illinois city had been hit by firebombing and sniping last Sunday night and there were fires ignited Tuesday night despite a strict police surveillance and the presence of National Guardsmen.

At Plainfield, N.J., state police said restrictions clamped on after a policeman's death might be lifted if today remains quiet. "We're optimistic," said the state police commander.

Course Change Success

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Ground controllers today triggered a tiny gas jet aboard America's Lunar Explorer spacecraft and successfully changed its pointing direction as it sped on course toward an orbit around the moon.

"The maneuver worked beautifully," said National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials as the radiation-studying mooncraft passed the three-quarter mark in its 225,608-mile trip through space.

The windmill-shaped craft, officially named Explorer 35, was launched Wednesday from Cape Kennedy. It is to trigger a retro-rocket about 5:30 a.m. (EDT) Saturday to swing it into an orbit around the moon ranging between 800 and 4,500 miles over the lunar surface.

There, for the next two to three years, sensors aboard the 230-pound payload were to study cosmic dust, magnetic fields and potential radiation hazards facing moon-bound astronauts. No camera is aboard.

Today's maneuver adjusted the spacecraft's orientation slightly to change the direction of the retro-motor, aiming Explorer 35 toward an orbit where its experiment sensors have the best viewing angles, officials said.

LET'S BE THANKFUL

It really isn't necessary for us to wait until some special occasion arises to give thanks to God.

He is a good and merciful god and we should thank him every day of our lives for the many blessings that we have here on earth.

And especially for the most precious gift of all, His Son and our Savior and Redeemer.

Let god enter into your life. If you have no place to worship we would love to have you worship with us.

Dedicates Desalting Facility

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A water desalting plant that will take city drinking water from the sea has been officially dedicated by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey but it still is not in full operation.

Preparations are under way for the 30-day test during which the plant will be required to operate at full capacity — 2.6 million gallons a day — for a month before it is accepted by the Florida Keys Aqueduct Commission.

"This plant demonstrates we are putting science and technology to work for man's living rather than for man's dying," Humphrey said Thursday before pushing a button that sent desalted water in a display 75 feet into the air over the Atlantic surf.

Humphrey said that by 1980 nuclear-powered plants capable of pumping a billion gallons of fresh water daily at 10 cents a thousand gallons will be operating.

The cost of water from the Key West plant is estimated at 85 cents a thousand gallons.

Until the desalting plant is in full operation most of the potable water for Key West comes to the islands through an 18-inch water line from springs at Florida City south of Homestead.

Improves Consumer Outlook

WASHINGTON (AP) — A series of federal and congressional actions improves the outlook for U.S. consumers. If all bear fruit, buyers may not necessarily save money but they'll be assured a fairer shake in the marketplace.

While federal agencies moved Thursday to implement or impose rules governing sale of food and transistor radios, congressional subcommittees worked toward improving the auto insurance shopper's lot and looking out for air travelers.

These were the developments

— The Federal Trade Commission proposed a rule that would force sellers of transistor radios to list in their advertising and labeling a true count of the number of transistors.

The FTC said the practice of listing transistors that don't really add to a radio's effectiveness misleads purchasers into believing certain radios are better than they actually are.

— It was learned that Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., has ordered the staff of his House antitrust subcommittee to probe the auto insurance industry. Aim of the investigation: To see whether the industry should retain its 1945 congressional exemption from antitrust laws.

The probe apparently resulted from a request by subcommittee members Reps. Peter J. Rodino, D-N.J., and William T. Cahill, R-N.J., who told Celler in a letter of widespread complaints that auto insurance firms discriminate among purchasers on racial, occupational and economic grounds.

— The Food and Drug Administration announced its new rules requiring food packagers to state clearly on labels the quantity in each package. The rules become effective Dec. 31.

Starting then, each food container must specify in bold face type the net quantity in total ounces for all containers less than four pounds or one gallon.

—Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., announced the House Commerce Committee would start public hearings Monday on aviation safety.

He said the committee may try to determine the cause of Wednesday's collision of a small private plane and a commercial transport which killed 82 persons in North Carolina.

City Council Members File Ouster

HOLDEN, Mo. (AP) — Seven of eight city council members of Holden filed ouster proceedings against Mayor Beryl A. Bonewitz Thursday, charging him with nepotism.

Bonewitz was charged with nepotism in connection with the appointment of his brother-in-law Floyd Cook as city counselor in a petition filed with Judge Richard M. Kimberlind of the combined Johnson and Cass County Circuit Court.

On July 13, Norman Anderson, Missouri attorney general, ruled Mayor Bonewitz violated the constitution by appointing Cook. Anderson said a decision of nepotism would require the mayor to forfeit his job.

Ivan Tors

Could Become A Second Disney

By BOB THOMAS Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — He scarcely fits the Walt Disney image, being stocky, goateed and Hungarian accented. To the inevitable question in interviews, he replies:

"No, I don't want to be the second Walt Disney. I want to be the first Ivan Tors."

Yet the comparison remains, and almost every week brings an announcement of a new project that makes it appear that Ivan Tors is destined to attract the same kind of family audience that flocked to the late, great Disney.

Tors' latest venture puts him into the amusement-park business, pioneered by Disneyland. The film producer has announced he will build two large attractions, called Animal Kingdom, in California and Florida. His entrance into this field is somewhat reluctant, he admitted.

"There is such a demand for leisure-time attractions that I have been forced to get into the business, whether I wanted to or not," he sighed. "Also, the cost of keeping animals has become so great that I have to find ways of offsetting it. When you have 600 to 700 animals, as we do, it means employing 40 trainers and a full-time veterinarian just to give the animals shots.

"Originally, I didn't want to open the compounds to the public because I was afraid the exposure to people might harm them. But now I find it is necessary."

The Florida Animal Kingdom will be situated on 4,000 acres Tors owns at Palm Beach Gardens; the California location is yet to be selected. His present Africa, U.S.A, 50 miles north of Hollywood, is not big enough for a public operation.

The plan is to allow the animals to roam as freely as possible—the more obstreperous beasts would be isolated on islands—and humans would be permitted to drive among them in their own cars or safari trucks.

You get the faint impression from talking with Tors that while he is not entirely a misanthrope, he somehow prefers the character of animals to that of his own species. Indeed, he is a persistent preacher of the lack of hostility on the part of animals toward humans.

'I firstdiscoveredthis when I was producing 'Sea Hunt,'" he explains. "During all the years we made the series, no shark ever attacked us, nor were we nipped by a barracuda. After that I decided not to believe in the zoology I had learned in school.

I am convinced that no animal will attack a human being unless it is provoked."

Tors, 51, has managed to translate his compassion for animals into film entertainment that has found a warm response from theater and television audiences. In fact, his operation has taken on all the aspects of a Disney-like empire. Items:

1. Feature movies. The new management of Paramount has announced it hopes that Tors can corral the family trade and has ordered 10 pictures in 14 months. In release: "Africa-Texas Style." Coming up: "Gentle Giant," "The Daring Game," "Island of the Lost."

2. Television series. Tors has cannily used his features as pilots for new series; thus "Africa-Texas Style," with Hugh O'Brian emerges as "Cowboy in Africa," with Chuck Connors on home screens next fall. "Gentle Giant" becomes "Gentle Ben," costarring Dennis Wever and a 7-foot bear. "Daktari" will be back, and "Flipper" returns in reruns next winter while the shows gears for a new family. "Our kids outgrew the series," Tors explains. He also shares production of "Off To See the Wizard" with MGM.

Calling In Dimes, Quarters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government quietly is withdrawing from circulation some of the old dimes and quarters containing 90 per cent silver.

They could be pumped back in during the Christmas shopping rush this year.

Officials say they have no plans to recall the 90 per cent silver coins in the wake of a Treasury Department decision to free the price of silver from its four-year level of $1.29 an ounce.

They described the new move as a contingency to handle any emergencies which might occur late this year or during 1968.

No announcement of the withdrawal into a coin stockpile has been made but officials said it's been going on for some time.

When silver coins find their way back to a Federal Reserve Bank in their normal course of circulation, officials said, they are held in reserve rather than recirculated.

The new copper-nickel sandwich coins — less likely to be set aside by collectors — are circulated instead.

One official gave three reasons for the move:

— To insure a stockpile of coins for possible use during the upcoming Christmas season when the demand for coins reaches its yearly peak.

— To gather a stockpile of silver should the Treasury need it to redeem silver certificates before the redemption deadline next June 30.

— To make certain enough silver is available to satisfy the strategic stockpile quota of 165 million ounces.

Officials emphasize they believe enough new type coins are available to satisfy needs but want an extra safety valve just in case.

The price of silver shot this week to more than $1.80 an ounce after the Treasury last Friday stopped selling it to private industry at $1.29. It now is selling up to 2 million ounces weekly to industry at the going market price.

The idea in maintaining the price of silver at $1.29 was to preserve the coinage. But officials said enough of the silverless coins now are available to satisfy needs if the silver content coins should disappear from circulation.

With the price of silver exceeding $1.80 an ounce the old dimes and quarters are worth more in silver than their face value. The melting point — the price at which the silver content equals the face value — is $1.38 an ounce for the old dimes, quarters and half dollars and $1.29 for silver dollars.

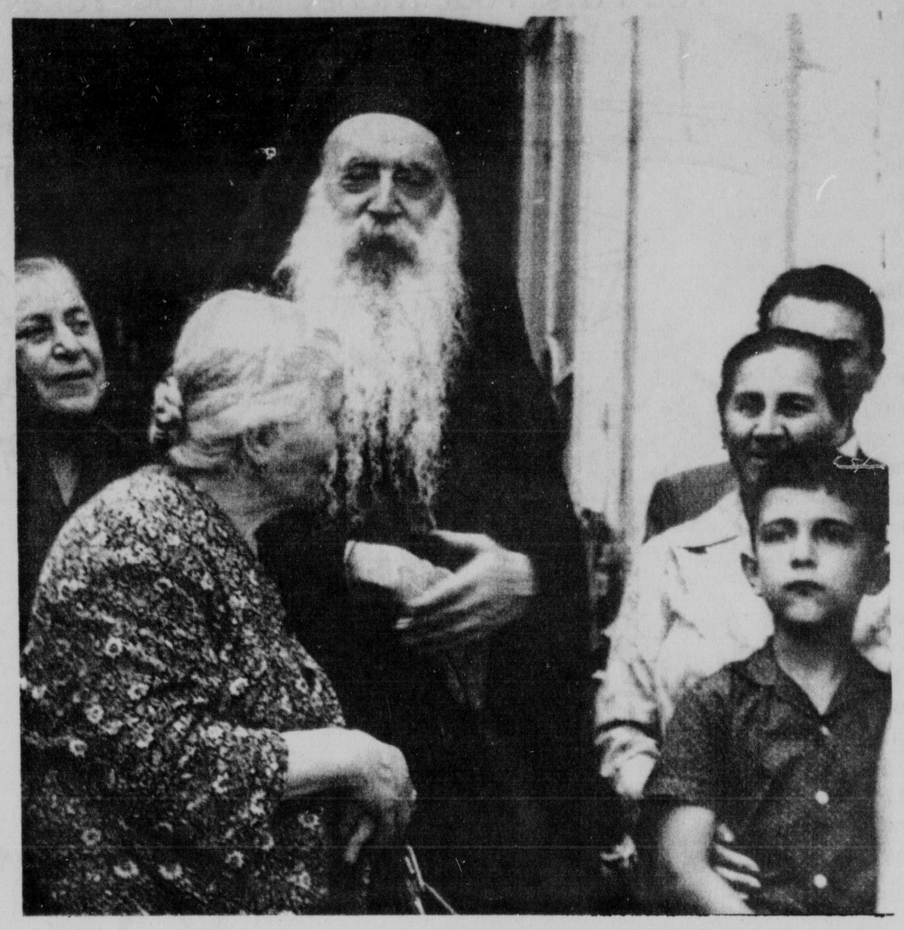

But since half dollars still are in short supply there is little use in trying to stockpile them.

The Treasury has barred the melting, treating or export of silver coins as another safety factor. This offense can be punished by a maximum $10,000 fine and five years in jail.

Missouri Hospitals Hold Cape Meeting

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP)—A meeting of representatives of 30 Missouri hospitals for a basic institute in medical records science opened today in Cape Girardeau.

The two-day program is sponsored by the State Association of Medical Records Librarians. The institute deals with medical terminology, medical record analysis and legal aspects of medical records.

Concern For Brux Is Sign Of New Outlook

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "We implore the blessings of God upon Dr. Brux in the evening years of his life."

That was the warm concern expressed by the Lutheran Church- Missouri Synod last week about an elderly onetime missionary to India whom the church once had censured for advocating prayer with Christians of other denominations.

The change of attitude toward the Rev. Dr. Adolph A. Brux, of Elmhurst, Ill., symbolized the transition going on in the church.

"He was just ahead of us," commented one of its 850 representatives, who rose in a unanimous vote of tribute to him. "We're slowly catching up."

That process, in which the old restriction against "prayer fellowship" with others has been gradually but definitely discarded in recent years, was plainly displayed, along with its tensions, at the church's governing convention.

Long a major stronghold in Protestantism of strictly defined beliefs, abstinence from defined beliefs, abstinence from public controversies, and aloofness from interdenominational links, the cautious, conservative branch of Lutheranism is widening its outlook.

It is increasing its contacts with fellow Christians. It is stirring with theological ferment. And it is picking its way, guardedly, into the thorny territory of social concerns.

These tendencies, and the strain over them, showed up throughout the national meeting, held every two years to set the policies and directions of the 2.8-million-member denomination.

It moves "step by step by step by step," its president, the Rev. Dr. Oliver R. Harms, of St. Louis, observed at one point, in reference to its methodical progress toward broader relationships.

The church is showing "more concern for social action, not because it has forgotten the Cross, but because it is remembering the Cross," said the Rev. Dr. Bertwin L. Frey, of Fairview Park, Ohio, who headed a committee on the subject.

Among strides taken in this area, the meeting authorized a full-time social-action officer. It spoke up strongly for open housing to eliminate racial ghettos in American cities, and provided for a special fund to support interdenominational or community projects in attaining de facto integration.

Departing from its usual avoidance of political issues, the synod also declared that a "divergence of opinion" exists about the Vietnam war, urged members to examine the issues, and responsibly voicing their views.

However, it disapproved selective conscientious objection to military service in particular wars, saying this could lead to anarchy

In regard to expanded relationship with other Christians, the synod ordered a study of possible membership in the World Council of Churches, a cooperative body of most of the world's Protestant and Orthodox denominations.

Only two major American Protestant bodies do not belong, the Missouri Synod Lutherans and the Southern Baptists. Until this decade, Roman Catholics also had avoided interchurch affairs but have plunged into them in the wake on the Second Vatican Council

The Missouri Synod observed: "We are living in an ecumenical climate and should be aware of ecumenical movements." The session encouraged broadened dialogue with Roman Catholics and hailed the "measure of agreement" shown so far in Lutheran talks with Presbyterian and Reformed representatives.

Martin Luther, the 16th century reformer, did not intend "to divide the church" but renew it, the convention said. "Differences can really never be understood or resolved. . .unless they can be discussed in sincere dialogue."

Approval also was given to a new joint translation of a catechism, produced by the nation's three major branches of Lutheranism, the third being the Lutheran Church in America.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Am I a nut or what? I am a 17-year-old girl who is scared to death of self-service elevators.

I entered a self-service elevator yesterday and was followed by a seedy looking man who needed a shave and had liquor on his breath. We rode to the 18th floor, just the two of us, and he kept staring at me the whole time. My heart was in my mouth until we reached the 18th floor. It was the longest elevator ride of my life. My imagination ran wild and I was a nervious wreck by the time I got off. off.

If you or any of your readers have some advice on how to fend off an attacker in an elevator, please pass it along.—R.S.

Dear R.S.: Do not get into a self-service elevator with a lone man. Wait until someone else comes along or just stand there and let the lone man go up. Then take the car on the next trip.

If vou are in a self-service elevator alone and a suspicious looking man gets on, press the button and get out at the next floor, wait for the elevator to return empty and proceed to your destination.

Dear Ann Landers: This is the first time I have ever written to a newspaper but I can no longer remain silent while counselors tell mothers not to interfere when a father disciplines his child.

Tonight my husband knocked our son off the dining room chair, pulled him into the hall, slammed his head against the wall and threw him up the stairs to his room. What kind of mother could witness this sort of violence and remain silent? I said plenty, and right in front of the boy, too.

This is contrary to what the counselors advise, but I feel children must know that at least one parent is rational and loves them. This wild temper of my husband's showed itself before and I stood up for our son. The counselor told me it would have been better had I waited until the child was in bed, then told my husband that he should not have hit the boy so hard.

Please, Ann Landers, say something in your column about this. I need someone on my side. — A MOTHER

Dear Mother: A mother should NOT interfere when a father disciplines a child. But what you describe is not discipline, it is brutality--savage behavior, punishable by law. A father who would slam a child's head against the floor and throw him up the stairs is very sick and out of control. Tell him that he must get help or move out and support you and the family. Every year hundreds of children suffer severe emotional and physical damage at the hands of brutal parents. Some of them die. Don't let this happen to your child.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm going to marry a law student next year. He wants to buy me an engagement ring but can spend very little. I know my friends will be laughing behind my back. In addition to the catty friends problem, my sister was married last year and she got a great big rock.

When I told my fiance that I would rather not have any ring than a teeny one, he looked hurt. I wish I were the noble type who could show a peanut ring with pride. I'm not. Am I wrong?— INSECURE

Dear In: If your fiance wants to give you an engagement ring allow him to do it. But why must it be a diamond? Settle on a pearl, or your birthstone.

P.S.: Those dollar signs on your eyeballs are pretty unattractive, Toots. Yich!

A Trite Expression

"I'm sorry.

If ever an expression has become hackneyed it's:

"I'm sorry."

People sometimes say it in a tone of finality to a customer when an article of merchandise is not available. That's one way to get a shopper off your back, seems to be the idea. But getting a person off your back that way may cause them never to come back.

But diplomatic clerks don't stop at "I'm sorry." They offer to obtain items in a couple of days or otherwise attempt to assist the shopper.

There's nothing wrong with saying, "I'm sorry," except that it has become such a trite expression. For variety why not substitute, "I regret," a synonym, to express moderate grief over a shortage of merchandise.

"I'm disappointed we do not have that item," or "I regret that we are out of apple pie today," are more to the point or that "the cook will surely have one baked for tomorrow." The last comment surely makes a drooling diner more patient.

The expression, "I'm sorry" seems to be imbedded in the subconscious, acquired during childhood days when mother used to harp: "Now tell your little brother you're sorry you threw that rock at him," or "tell Mrs. Jones you're sorry you kicked her in the shins."

There is another angle to this I'm sorry business. We have been caught saying the same words the past eleven days trying to placate some impatient readers of the Sedalia Democrat-Capital. Since moving into a new building, we are trying desperately to become familiar with the intracacies of producing newspapers by a process which at the outset of offset printing has as many bugs as a horse with a buggy behind.

In the course of time we'll get all the gremlins out of this delightfully air-conditioned place after the aggravations and complexities of electronic and photographic devices are subdued.

And just as we forbear the deficiencies of many of our friends with whom we have business and social contacts, we pause at this point to ask their indulgence to our current shortcomings during a critical period of our production problems.

We love everybody and we want them to love us. So, to maintain this attitude, how about all of us taking a big swig of the tonic of self-control while we are mutually in a temporary state of provocation.

Initially, then, on our part we'll start off expressing moderate grief over our shortcomings by saying:

I'm sor--oops, I'm regretful about our mistakes which we are determined to correct soon by producing for our customers a better product--if we don't get choked to death by our critics before we have a chance to catch our second breath.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Riots Disclose Peculiar Contrasts

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—These are days of peculiar contrasts. In Washington, the senate judiciary committee ponders confirmation of the first Negro ever appointed to the Supreme Court...in Newark, Negroes jeer white guardsmen in front of smashed windows, looted stores....in Washington, the first Negro ever appointed to the cabinet rules over housing and urban development, the problem of Negro ghettos, decaying central cities, moldering tenements...in Newark, Negroes pour out of fetid, dilapidated, unrepaired buildings to mingle cries of revolt with rifle shots...in Washington, this feverish ghetto is represented in Congress by Peter Rodino, an Italian who has pioneered for Negroes' civil rights....The Negroes of Newark, however, aren't much interested in civil rights. They are interested in jobs. They would like to see the job corps, the summer training, the anti-poverty program which Adam Clayton Powell brought to Harlem also brought to Newark....but Pete Rodino was asked to fight for equality of ethical conduct for Powell, the Negro congressman and Mendal Rivers, the white South Carolina congressman, he ran like a rabbit. He wouldn't buck the white establishment.

More contrasts: The Mayor of Newark, Hugh Addonizio, was born of parents who migrated from Italy. They came here of their own free will, looking for opportunity. The great great grandparents of the Negroes who rioted in the slums of Newark came to this country in chains to help white men improve their opportunity....Addonizio nursed ambition, became a congressman, then Mayor of a big city....The Negroes whose grandparents came here in chains never nursed ambition because when you're in bondage for 200 years you never know ambition. Even during the last 100 years of nominal freedom but actual discrimination, ambition hasn't stirred easily. It's been stifled by too many years of serfdom....there are not many Thurgood Marshalls who could rise to the Supreme Court, or Bob Weavers who could become members of the cabinet.

—FIRST SOUTHERN PRESIDENT—

Nor have there been many Lyndon Johnsons, who recognized Negro merit, encouraged Negro ambition. Johnson, the first southern president in one hundred years--the same period that Negroes have been free--has seemed to be trying to make up for the dead hand of discrimination during those one hundred years. And the south from which he sprang has hated him; hated him for his two civil rights bills, his anti-poverty program, his Negro appointments to high places....for a man supposed to worry about popularity polls, this is an amazing policy; because helping Negroes isn't popular anymore in the North, and never was in the South. Too many riots, too many smashed windows.

But perhaps Johnson, being a southerner, has watched the social evolution, studied the effects of automation. After all, his wife's family ran a cotton plantation in Alabama and he knows that the Negroes who moved up to Newark and Plainfield and Paterson went there chiefly because of the mechanized cotton picker. It displaced thousands of field hands....and because of this and the starvation long existent below the surface but brought, by the Clark investigation, above the surface, they trekked North looking for better wages, better schools, and equality

—NORTHERN AUTOMATION—

Here they have found more automation. As the cotton picker had displaced the field hand, so the automated apartment elevator, automated cargo unloader, automated factories, plus the competition of cheap Puerto Rican labor, shoved them out of jobs and into the fetid, rundown slums of Newark which Mayor Addonizio either would not or could not get the money to renovate; and to which Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Weaver, first Negro ever to serve in the cabinet, could not allocate money for new housing without red tape and local initiative.

So the Negro population of Newark became more bitter and less ambitious; more inclined to alcohol on weekends. They became more lethargic, victims of a vicious circle. The more they drank on weekends, the more they absented on Monday, and the more employers automated.

Sitting at home with nothing to do but look at television, Negro viewers saw case after case where crime and rough stuff paid dividends. They saw commercials selling luxuries to white people: everything from refrigerators to dog food which looked better than the food they gave their children. They saw vacations in the sun--all free--or so it seemed from the commercials....buy now and pay later. An invitation to take now and pay the court later. White people got--or took--these luxuries; why not colored people?

It isn't easy to love your neighbor as yourself when your neighbor appears to have polished floors, suntan lotion at the beach, air conditioning at home, and your floor is littered with children, your toilet doesn't flush and it's so hot you can't sleep at night.

So love passes you by.

That was how it all started in Newark, New Jersey. And those are the conditions that will have to be changed in Newark and Plainfield and Buffalo and Cincinnati before peace and harmony can be restored to the big cities.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Captain Carl G. Schrader, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schrader, 715 West Third street, received orders to report for duty with the United States Air Force at Mobile, Ala. He is a veteran of World War I serving overseas for two years. He was decorated by King Albert of Belgium and received the Purple Heart.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The annual camp Court of Honor for Boy Scouts was held in the Assembly room of the court house with Walter Bohling presiding. The following boys passed tests as listed: Richard Parkhurst, Houstonia, life scout, conservation, scholarship, automobiling and bird study; Garnett Williams, Houstonia, life scout, electricity, scholarship; Tom Johnson, craft leather, swimming; Ed Jenkins, life saving, pioneering, botany; Charles Jenkins, botany. Brandt Ridgeway, swimming; Emory Shy, pioneering, life saving, reptile study, botany; Ernest Jones, Jr., botany, reptile study, pioneering, scholarship; Cecil Page, second class.

Holland Has Gas to Burn

Tiny Holland now has the distinction of possessing the largest proved natural gas fields in the world. At 58.2 trillion cubic feet, they exceed the reserves of Texas or the Sahara.

This is estimated as sufficient to meet the requirements of The Netherlands over the next 30 to 40 years and still allow for the export of about 880 billion cubic feet a year to the rest of Europe.

At present, about 70 per cent of the household burners in The Netherlands have been converted to gas. Mass conversion in industry is not taking place—yet—because the price difference between gas and oil is too small to warrant replacement of well-functioning oil-powered systems.

But all that gas in the ground is one reason why Holland, at least, is not unduly concerned by all the gas the Arabs have been spouting about an oil boycott.

Easy Question to Answer

Human beings are superlatively adroit at taking basically simple situations and complicating them into beautiful confusion.

As a businessman, if you found an employe doing what testimony has indicated Adam Clayton Powell and Thomas J. Dodd were doing—and regardless of how vigorously or audaciously such actions were defended—would YOU want that employe to keep on representing the firm?

So, What Else is New?

The U.S. Air Force has disclosed that it has developed a "whispering gallery" through which messages can travel from one manned spacecraft to another at incredible speed over incredible distances.

With all respect to the Air Force, this phenomenon is really nothing. Up to this time it has been called gossip.

Keep Holy Land Peaceful: Challenge to U.S. Churches

By DAVID POLING
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The 1967 war in the Holy Land will have an effect on this country that reaches far beyond the military, political and geographic considerations now being discussed.

What will emerge is a whole new look at our policy for the Middle East. Israel has struggled for 20 years to gain acceptance in a hostile Arab world, always with our blessing and sometimes with our support.

But the question that remains unanswered is the avenue of approach to be taken by the Christian churches. In short, will the church now offer leadership and show moral concern for the broken Arab community? The Christian's love for Israel must not exclude compassion for the Arab states.

But as churchmen plan their strategy for the whole Middle East, note the traditional mood of the Christian community in the United States:

- An emotional attachment to Jerusalem, Galilee, Nazareth and Mount of Olives where Jesus was first known and followed.
- A historic interest in the lands of the Old Testament, tracing the ancient sites of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Here the Old Testament roots of the Christian faith are shared devotedly by Christian and Jew.
- A fraternal fellowship of Jewish and Christian scholars pursuing archaeological projects and engaging in various "digs." A continuing excitement in the theological meaning of such finds as the Dead Sea Scrolls.
- A pilgrim's desire to be in Bethlehem at Christmas and to spend Holy Week in Jerusalem. Last year nearly 25,000 celebrated Easter in the Old City.
- A deep moral commitment to the survivors of World War II and a willingness to insure the future of a Jewish homeland.

Now the victory of Israel over the Arab states has brought tremendous change to the thinking of Christians in America.

Israel is no longer a frail, struggling state in a hostile Arab continent.

The image of her army and air force has shattered some ancient illusions. No more can many outsiders picture the modern Jew as a shuffling, bearded oppressed rag peddler making his way from door to door. The modern Hebrew in the cockpit of a jet fighter or seated in the turret of a five-ton tank presents quite a different profile—to Americans as well as Arabs.

Conservative religious groups in this country have seen the Jews as objects to be prayed for, pitied and proseletized. The hard core of this group slips into antisemitism and the lunatic fringe does it eagerly for fun and profit—all in the name of Christ! Fortunately, the main line denominations in this country have discredited this pseudo-evangelism.

However, this vigorous national assertion (under provocation and threat) has already affected the activities of churchmen in this country.

The tour business to the Middle East is for the moment dead. Christians tour Jordan and Lebanon as well as Israel. These frontiers will probably not be settled for some time and the tour business has no real substitute.

Archaelogical activities are suspended. Although there are Hebrew scholars "in residence," a tremendous amount of money and manpower has come from as far away as Japan and America. This cannot go on during a period of crises.

A reawakening to the Arab plight with emphasis on a solution for the 1.5 million Palestinian refugees who have been rotting in relief camps for 20 years. What will the churches do? Will it be more overseas aid, more personnel for health and assistance? Does it means a large relocation program in this country for those Arabs willing to resettle? Would Israel be encouraged to absorb these people into her culture? (already there are 300,000 Arabs living in Israel).

Whatever the answers, the next decade will be a point of real testing for the Christian church. If the problems we have mentioned are not solved, then the Holy Lands will ignite again and again. Surely a good part of the failure will rest with those who did not respond in the Middle West, the heart of America.

When you have to lose a trick anyway it is good policy to consider exactly when you want to lose it. There is no bonus paid for winning the first trick.

Most players would have doubled four spades with the South hand. Then they would have complained about bad luck if West had managed to make his contract. We aren't sure West would have, but we are sure that he could have. In fact he might even have made an overtrick if hearts were opened and continued. He would have to gamble that he could get to dummy with a diamond. He would start by leading a high diamond and putting on dummy's king. Later on he would overtake his six with East's eight to finesse the spades. Assuming that he had not already lost a club trick he would wind up discarding dummy's losing club on a long diamond.

All this is academic. South's bid was five hearts. West doubled and led the queen of diamonds. East played the eight and South looked things over.

He saw that he wasn't going to make five hearts but he wanted to hold his loss to one trick and the way to do it would be to keep East out of the lead so he ducked the first diamond.

From then on he had no problems. He won the diamond continuation, drew trumps, knocked out West's ace of clubs, and would have been able to discard a spade on dummy's fifth club except that West cashed his ace of spades right away and saved South this trouble.

East and West could have beaten him two tricks but it would have involved an almost impossible play. East would have had to play his king of diamonds on the queen and later West would have had to lead low to the eight spot.

Presidential Bug Bite Lingers On

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—There's no telling where the presidential bug will bite but once it bites deeply there is practically no cure.

Richard M. Nixon, the former vice president who once ruled himself out of politics, is thinking of trying for the presidency in 1968.

It will be no surprise if New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller makes another stab at the Republican nomination although he, too, said he had given up all thought of it.

And Esquire magazine indicates even Harold E. Stassen may be thinking of the same thing.

These three Republicans have been around so long, eyeing the White House, or perhaps it only seems long, they're like an earlier generation of politicians. Yet, the oldest of them, Stassen, is only 60.

Two other Republicans most often mentioned as most likely prospects for their party's nomination—Govs. George Romney and Ronald Reagan—are in the same age bracket as the others but politically are like newcomers.

Romney, 60 and serving his second term as Michigan's governor, hasn't been mixed up in any presidential bids. He was a governor but not enough of a political figure in 1964 to be considered a contest for Barry Goldwater.

And Reagan, 56, only emerged as a politician in 1966 when he won California's governorship.

That the Republicans badly need fresh blood and new faces is pretty evident from the fact that only Romney and Reagan are being talked of seriously as candidates among the party's newcomers.

Stassen, more than any Republican in sight, seems unable to accept the thought his defeats and frustrations meant he was washed up long ago. But Nixon also was left by the wayside more than once. So was Rockefeller.

In its August issue Esquire describes Stassen, now a Philadelphia lawyer, as a heavybuilt, lumbering man who keeps giving politicians of both parties, including President Johnson, his ideas in endless letters and is deeply grateful for any recognition, even from a stranger on the street.

He wasn't always lumbering. He was a very nimble politician once, starting at 22, right after he got out of school, when he was twice elected a district attorney in Minnesota. Starting at 31, he was elected governor three times.

He was called the "Boy Wonder" in those days. He tried for the Republican presidential nomination in 1948 but didn't have a chance. He tried again in 1952 but was drowned out by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and then went to work in Eisenhower's administration. Things really went sour for him after that.

In 1956 he tried to block Nixon's vice presidential renomination. That turned into a farce. He only angered Republican leaders. Then he tried for the Pennsylvania governorship, and lost in 1958. Undiscouraged, he tried for the Philadelphia mayor's job, and lost again.

But Esquire says that to the question of the 1968 Presidential nomination Stassen's response was: "I do not rule it out."

Nixon, now 54, was pretty nimble, too. He got himself elected to the House at 33, to the Senate at 37, and to the vice presidency at 39. After two terms in that job Nixon and the Republicans thought he was a natural to suceed Eisenhower in the presidency. But when he tried for it in 1960 John F. Kennedy beat him by a whisper.

Apparently unwilling to believe this had significance, Nixon tried for the governorship of California in 1962 and lost again. In an ugly mood he told reporters: "You won't have Nixon to kick around any longer."

Nevertheless, in 1964 he was ready and willing to accept the Republican presidential nomination but didn't get it. Now he's talking of 1968.

Rockefeller, 59, three-time governor of New York, would have liked the nomination in 1960, sounded out Republican sentiment, found Nixon had it sewed up, and backed out. He made a real bid against Goldwater in 1964. No luck.

Two years ago he ruled himself out forever as a presidential candidate but now he is being talked about as one.

THE MEXICO LEDGER — 'The Truth About Rumors — Truth kills rumors.

And rumors need killing.

That's because rumors are never constructive; rumors are always destructive.

The best and surest way to kill a rumor is to get the truth in print.

In our town and in every town, we have seen rumors ravaging like wildfire . . . and then be killed the minute truth is published.

The simple truth about rumors is that they are destructive and get more so until the truth is printed.

So the American Bar Association is trying to increase secrecy in arrests, and secrecy in trials. And all the time declaring they are against secrecy in arrests and trials.

The Bar's position is a tragic, inexcusable, nonsensical over-reaction to the Warren Committee report.

Since that report, judge after judge has laid down rulings attempting to increase secrecy in arrest, and increase secrecy in trials.

And then it happened the first time. . .

It happened in South Bend, Ind.

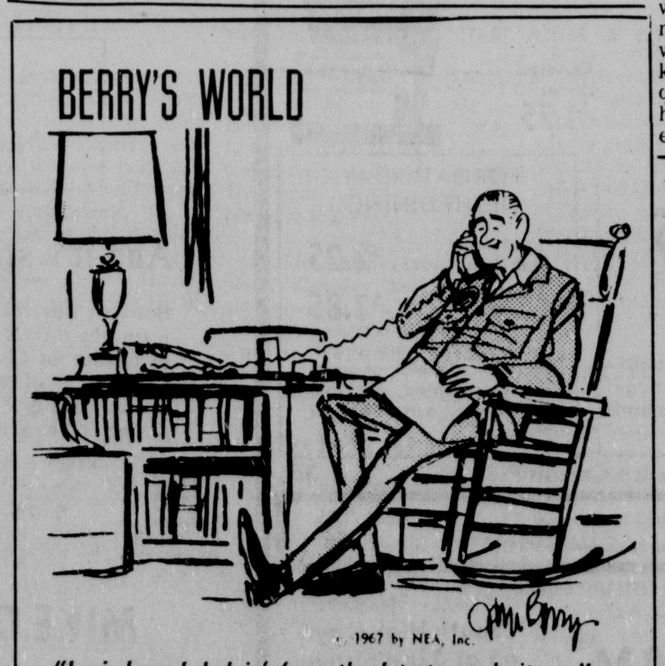

The case involved the second degree murder trial of a South Bend policeman accused of killing an 18-year-old boy.

Judge Norman Kopec granted a change of venue because of the near hysterical atmosphere surrounding the case which the judge said was caused by "unfounded and preposterous rumors".

The press had been denied the opportunity to publish pre-trial information. Rumor ran rampant. In granting the change of venue because of the rumors spread by word of mouth, the judge defended the "conduct of the press" under his rules.

Meanwhile, the American Bar Association is meeting this summer to consider new bar association rules which would increase secrecy in arrests and secrecy in trials. Advance word is that the bar association is going to over-ride press and other opposition and adopt these senseless rules. . .

. . . Once it does, watch what rumor does in trials, watch the loss of confidence in police (because their work will be shrouded in part by secrecy); watch the loss of confidence in our courts (because of judge-enforced secrecy).

"Luci, honey! Judgin' from the latest popularity polls, you'd better have a baby EVERY year!"

Sputnik Is Not Catching On Fast

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) —Sputnik, not the satellite but the Soviet English-language magazine that is supposed to give Reader's Digest a run around the world, is hardly a ball of fire in the United States after seven months.

Its American distributor says he is satisfied that the magazine is now available in almost every state, "wherever they want it," and that college towns seem to be receiving it with more than common interest.

He concedes, however, that "it's not catching on like wildfire," and he comments that at the present time, "we'd like to see if we can consolidate our circulation."

The handsome, Digest-size, multicolored, 50-cent, 248-page July edition, for example, will have a U.S. distribution of less than 25,000 copies. The Reader's Digest sells 17.2 million copies domestically.

But Sputnik, launched last January as a condensation of the best in Soviet newspapers and magzines, was never meant to give that kind of competition in the United tates. Abroad it might be a different matter, for Sputnik lists 40 countries in which it is distributed.

Nevertheless, it will have to travel like the satellite it was named after to catch up with the Digest's foreign circulation of 10.7 million copies in several languages. Sputnik originally was printed in English, Russian and Japanese, but more languages will be added.

In the United States, Eastern News Distribution, Inc., which supplies newsstands cross the nation, reports that of the 25,000 copies now distributed some are returned by dealers, "but the Reader's Digest has some returns too."

"We're not doing much promotion," a spokesman said, "and you really can't launch a magazine until you promote it. In the past we did some, but now we want to see how the results hold up."

The editors reportedly hoped for a circulation of 50,000 in the United States, a small goal that still seems within sight. Many times more Americans, however, have seen Sputnik satellites in the skies than Sputnik magazines on the newsstands. Its sales generally are restricted to downtown stores rather than corner newsstands or suburban variety stores.

As for doing business with the Russians, the distributor says, "It's easy to deal with them." The contract is based on the number of magazines distributed and, he says, he isn't losing money.

"We're in business. We couldn't stay in this and take a loss. We're compensated for our services."

For the publisher, Novosti Press Agency, it may be a different matter. Even the barest expenses could not be met on the $12,000 or so return from present circulation. Just a few years ago one American magazine, the old Coronet, went broke with a circulation of three million and lots more ads.

The current issue of Sputnik has only eight full-page advertisements, four from Finnish companies—the magazine is printed there—and four from Soviet industries: lumber, cameras, fur coats and textiles.

Connally To Hunt In Africa

NEW YORK (AP) — An avid sportsman all his life, Gov. John Connally of Texas said it didn't require much persuasion when he was asked to go to Africa to hunt leopard for "The American Sportsman" on the ABC television network.

"I grew up in South Texas and hunted everything down there from rattlesnakes up and down," Connally said in an interview before leaving for Africa. "I've hunted javelina, white tail deer, prong-horned antelope, plus all the birds."

"One thing I'd always hoped to do was go on an African safari. So when Tom Moore asked me it didn't take much arm twisting," he said.

Moore, president of ABC—TV plans to go with Connally into the Serengeti Plains of north central Tanzania. The trip is due to begin about July 24 and last until about the first of September. Among others going are Bing Crosby, Phil Harris and David Janssen.

"The American Sportsman," rated by Nielsen as the most popular sports series on television, features celebrities hunting and fishing in exotic locales. The one-hour color show is seen Sundays from January to April.

Could Be Regarded As Angry

WASHINGTON (AP) — "This Congress may be regarded in history as the angry Congress," one Democratic House member said this week — and worried administration floor leaders could begin to fear he's right.

Action taken by the House on three bills this week, added to the slim record of the last seven months, sounded still another warning that the Johnson administration is in deep legislative trouble, especially in the House.

Some Democrats have talked seriously about finishing up necessary appropriations business and adjourning, but three big fights lie ahead — antipoverty, foreign aid and taxes.

The first two are "must" administration bills if the programs are to continue at all. The last, President Johnson indicated this week, is in almost the same category although it could be put off until 1968.

The comment about the angry temper of Congress came from Rep. John G. Dow, D-N.Y., who was making a vain effort to stem passage Wednesday of the so-called antiriot bill, which members pushed through 347 to 70.

Less than 24 hours later they turned on a $40-million administration proposal to help cities exterminate rats and voted 207 to 176 against even bringing it up for debate.

It marked the first time since 1961 the House refused consideration of a measure by rejecting the resolution from the Rules Committee setting terms of the debate. In 1961, the measure was an emergency school aid bill.

Tuesday, Republicans scored another success when they succeeded for the second time this year in amending an appropriations bill with their pet amendment to restrict expenditure of funds to 95 per cent of the amount appropriated.

The amendment was attached to the bill providing money for the new Department of Transportation. Its effect was unclear, since some of the money in the bill is for future years, but it demonstrated again the increased GOP punch in the 90th Congress.

Involved In Earlier Collision

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — The Piedmont Airlines 727 jetliner that collided with a private plane in flight near Hendersonville Wednesday killing 82 persons had been involved in a previous collision.

The $5.5-million Boeing-built plane known as the "Manhattan Pacemaker" was struck by a car May 25 while being towed to maintenance facilities across a public road from the Smith Reynolds Airport at Winston-Salem.

The woman driving the car was hospitalized, and damage to the plane was $25,000. It was out of service a week.

The plane had landing gear trouble three times last Friday. A pilot's warning light showed the nose wheel was not down, although observers on the ground said it was in place.

Women Seek Defense From Pavement Plato

NEW YORK (AP) — "Dear Pavement Plato:

"Everybody has been knocking women lately, as if to be one were almost against the law.

"All we hear every day is how bad we are. We are accused of pampering ourselves, henpecking our husbands, and spoiling our children.

"Surely we aren't altogether bad. We must have some nice qualities. Why doesn't someone tell us what they like about us for a change? That might even inspire us to try to be better. Modern Eve"

Not a bad idea, Eve. Woman must have some good qualities or she wouldn't have managed to remain the apple of man's eye since the Garden of Eden.

But what are they? It's hard to say. What one man finds appealing in a woman another man may find upsets his digestion.

However, at the risk of being regarded as a traitor in some quarters, here are some of the things I like about women:

Most of them no longer sweep dirt under the living-room rug, as they now have vacuum cleaners.

Some of them are fun to walk behind and look at when a fellow doesn't have any big, important world problem on his mind.

They may whimper about small annoyances, but they are as strong as granite under real adversity.

If a big lie is needed to save a social situation, they can tell one without batting an eye.

Merely by the way they throw a baseball they can give a man a vast feeling of superiority.

It is amazing how many things they can keep cooking on a kitchen stove and still manage to get them all done at the same time.

When you take one of them to a restaurant, she can give you sound advice on whether it is better to eat the cantaloupe a la mode with a fork or a spoon.

If your child gets a runny nose, your wife will generally wipe it rather them ask you to. You simply can't beat them for many small chores like this around the house.

A homely man becomes bitter and full of secret self-pity about his homeliness, but a homely woman is always sure that there is something beautiful about her. And this is true.

Woman is a wiser animal than man. As a man becomes more knowledgeable through experience, he coms to distrust his instincts. A woman rarely does. She retains a blind faith in her instinctual wisdom, which she calls intuition, and there are occasions in life when this gift of nature is a better guide than the precepts taught by experience.

When it comes to getting a button sewed on, there is nothing like a dame.

They tend to be forgiving. No matter how shabbily a man has treated a woman, if she loves him he can melt her anger into fondness with the surprise gift of a handful of flowers — or even a mink coat.

Women have inherent nobility and grace and self-respect. It is only the standards they set and cling to that keeps our civilizavtion, sorry as it is, from degenerating into a worse jungle.

Finally, there is nothing finer to come home to and see, shining in warm loveliness across a candlelit dinner table, than a woman.

Well, there I've said it. Those are a few of the things men like about women.

World News

LONDON (AP) — At least 10 nations including the United States have increased their trade with Rhodesia despite U.N. sanctions against the rebellious British colony Board of Trade President Douglas Jay said Wednesday night.

Jay told the House of Commons that trade statistics for the first three months of the year, at present available for only a limited number of countries, showed increases in imports from Rhodesia by the United States, Luxembourg, Portugal and Switzerland and a hike in exports to Rhodesia by France, West Germany, Japan, the Netherlands, Portugal and Yugoslavia.

The foreign office said Monday that a large proportion of American imports in the period were commodities which left Rhodesia before the U.N. sanctions resolution became effectiv.

PANAMA (AP) — Signing of the new Panama Canal treaties by the United States and Panama may be weeks away, a source close to President Marco A. Robles has indicated.

Robles on Wednesday denied reports that he would go to Washington Monday for the signing. He said he has not decided whether he will go to Washington at all.

LONDON (AP) — Legal abortion appeared assured today in Britain after the House of Lords voted 127-21 in favor of a bill already given final approval by the House of Commons.

The bill would permit abortion when two doctors agree that pregnancy threatens the mother's physical or mental health or that of her family. It is opposed by Roman Catholic members of Parliament and by the Archbishop of Canterbury, the leader of the Anglican Church. The bill may still be amended in the upper house, and any amendments must be approved by Commons. But its adoption appears assured.

Placed On Two Years Probation

KANSAS CITY (AP)—University of Missouri student Bruce Forrester, 20, son of a federal judge in Washington, was put on probation for two years Thursday on a charge of selling LSD.

Forrester elected not to contest a federal indictment and acknowledged two sales of the drug at Columbia, Mo., in March.

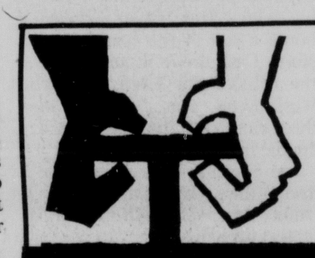

Probation was granted by Judge William R. Collinson who noted the youth plans to return to Columbia and teach if the university will accept him.

The father, Judge Bruce Forrester of the U. S. Tax court, and the youth's family formerly lived in Kansas City. They now live in Chevy Chase, Md.

Belts Mets 7-0

Don Wilson Again Has Command of Game

By MIKE RECHT . . . .
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jackie Brandt already knows it is easier to hit for teammate Don Wilson than against him, and the rest of the National League hitters are quickly learning it, too.

Wilson, a rookie right-hander who pitched a no-hitter a month ago and a three-hitter 11 days ago, cut down New York on two hits Thursday night as the Houston Astros belted the Mets 7-0.

It was his third straight victory and while he has discouraged opposing hitters, his pitching has brought out the best in Brandt. The veteran reserve outfielder, hitting only .237, had six hits in 11 at bats with his only triple and homer and eight of his 10 runs batted in during those games.

"I don't know what it is, but I sure do well when he's pitching," Brandt said.

Brandt drove in four runs Thursday night with a sacrifice fly and the homer and added a double.

Another part-time performer, Gene Oliver, also had a good night, stroking three singles and a two-run homer as he led Philadelphia over Los Angeles 10-4.

League-leading St. Louis unleashed Julian Javier, Orlando Cepeda and Bob Tolan, who each homered, and whipped Cincinnati 7-3.

Pat Jarvis snapped the Chicago Cubs' five-game winning streak with a four-hitter that lifted Atlanta to a 2-1 victory, and Gaylord Perry broke his own six-game losing string by pitching San Francisco to a 6-1 triumph over Pittsburgh.

In the American League, Detroit humbled Washington 8-4 and Cleveland blanked the New York Yankees 4-0. Boston was rained out at Baltimore in the only other game scheduled.

Wilson, 22, now 7-5, allowed only singles by Ed Charles in the first inning and Larry Stahl in the ninth. He struck out nine, walked two and hit one and extended his shutout string to 25 innings, breaking the club record of 24 set by Robin Roberts.

The Astros and Brandt made the rest easy. Brandt drove in one of four second-inning runs with his fly and then hit a three-run homer in the fifth off Bob Shaw and later doubleed off Shaw and later doubled off Shaw.

Oliver's first hit helped the Phillies to a four-run second inning against Claude Osteen, and his homer made it 6-0 in the third. Bobby Wine belted his first homer of the season in the fifth with two on as Larry Jackson, 7-9, breezed.

Javier slammed a three-run shot, Cepada a two-run blow and Tolan a solo homer as the Cardinals hammered Mel Queen and Don Nottebart and increased their lead to two games over the Cubs.

The Cubs played their game under protest when Ernie Banks hit a short fly to left-center field in the sixth inning with the bases loaded and Glenn Beckert, trying to score from third, was tagged out at the plate after bouncing off catcher Joe Torre. Cub Manager Leo Durocher claimed Torre blocked the plate before he had the ball, thereby interfering with the runner.

The Braves had taken a 2-1 lead in the inning on hits by Hank Aaron and Torre and an infield out after Tito Francona homered earlier.

Perry, 6-11, who had not won since June 10, yielded only seven hits. The Giants gave him a 5-0 lead as Willie McCovey hit a two-run homer.

McAuliffe's Bat Finds New Power

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick McAuliffe wasn't rated much of a slugger when he joined Detroit six years ago. But his current distance hitting is keeping the Tigers within striking distance of the lead in the tight American League pennant race.

The 27-year-old second baseman rapped out his 17th homer and a triple Thursday night in leading Detroit to an 8-4 victory over Washington. The triumph left the Tigers in fifth place, but only three games behind the first-place Chicago White Sox.

Cleveland downed the New York Yankees 4-0 while the Boston-Baltimore game, the only other one scheduled, was postponed because of rain with the Red Sox leading 2-0 in the bottom of the third.

In the National League, St. Louis beat Cincinnati 7-3, Atlanta edged the Chicago Cubs 2-1, San Francisco trounced Pittsburgh 6-1, Philadelphia walloped Los Angeles 10-4 and Houston blanked the New York Mets, 7-0.

McAuliffe, a 5-foot-11, 175 pounds left-handed batter, had only 24 homers in 497 minor league games covering five seasons before moving up to Detroit as a regular in 1961.

Dick found the home run range in 1964, slamming 24, added 15 the following year and hit 23 in 1966. He appears well on his way toward his big league high this season and is tied for fifth place in the homer derby with the Yanks' Mickey Mantle.

The Tigers jumped on Barry Moore, the Senators' starter, for two runs in the first inning on McAuliffe's homer, a triple by Don Wert and Willie Horton's sacrifice fly.

Moore was knocked out in the third when Detroit added two more runs on McAuliffe's RBI triple, a hit batsman and a double play. Ray Oyler singled home a run in the fourth, and Norm Cash drove in another in the fifth. Berni Allen was the Washington star, driving in three runs, including two with a double in the eighth.

Joe Sparma, with relief help from Mike Marshall, gained credit for his 10th victory against three losses.

Sam McDowell reached a milestone in the Indians' victory over the Yanks. He struck out eight batters, lifting his career total to 1,007. The fireballing southpaw reached the 1,000-mark in the second inning when he fanned Steve Whitaker.

Cleveland scored in the first inning when Joe Azcue's single drove in Chuck Hinton, who had reached on an error. The second run came in the third on singles by Leon Wagner, Azcue and Rocky Colavito. Hinton drove in the third run with a double in the fourth.

McDowell yielded only six hits in recording his seventh triumph against eight setbacks. Fritz Peterson, 2-9, was the loser.

Pomp Comes In With Big Cash Prize

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Pomp and Harry Pownall Sr. got lucky. So they won the $82,500 pot of gold in the Yonkers Futurity trot and a chance to sweep trotting's Triple Crown.

Pomp, a 3-year-old colt by Star's Pride out of Pompon, survived a bumping at the first turn that saw nine horses in the record field of 13 break stride, and went on to win the first prize of the $150,000 total purse in the Futurity at Yonkers Raceway Thursday night.

At the finish it was Pomp and driver Pownall by a decisive three lengths over Dazzling Speed, driven by Stanley Dancer.

Keystone Pride, reined by Del Insko as an entry with Billy Haughton's favored Flamboyant, was three-quarters of a length back in third place and 1½ lengths ahead of Flying Cloud.

"I was the lucky one," Pownall said afterward.

"A horse ran into me at the first turn," Pownall said. "We were lucky to get clear without breaking. After that I knew we had a chance."

The Hambletonian at Duquoin, Ill., on Aug. 30 is the second leg of the Triple Crown. The last leg is the Kentucky Futurity at Lexington, Ky. Oct. 6.

McDowell Forgot His Big Moment

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sam McDowell knew he could get the big one Thursday night.

When it came, Sam forgot. "Don't you want the darn ball?" yelled umpire Nestor Chylak. Of course McDowell wanted the ball. He had just reached 1,000 strikeouts.

"I was concentrating so hard on the game I didn't realize it," the Cleveland Indians left-hander said after he beat the New York Yankees 4-0.

McDowell said: "It wasn't anything to write home to mother about." The box score disagrees.

He struck out eight, walked four and scattered six hits to make his record 7-8.

"I was really mad when I walked Steve Whitaker in the ninth inning," he said. "The worst thing you can do is walk somebody in the ninth."

It was Whitaker who took a third strike in the second inning, making McDowell one of 25 active major league pitchers to reach the 1,000 mark. He now has 142 for the season and 1,007 in six years.

This is his fourth full year in the majors.

By comparison, it took Sandy Koufax almost eight years to reach 1,000 and Bob Feller notched his 1,000th in his sixth year.

St. Louis Leads By 2 Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Louis is back in front by two games in the National League pennant race. The Cards beat Cincinnati, 7-3, Thursday night while runnerup Chicago was a 2-1 victim of Atlanta in a day game.

The Kansas City Athletics were idle Thursday, but swing back into action tonight in their own park against the American League leading Chicago White Sox. Jim Hunter will start for the A's and Wilbur Wood for the White Sox.

Home runs accounted for six of the seven Cardinal runs.

Julian Javier belted a three-run blow in the second inning. Orlando Cepeda connected for a two-run shot in the fifth and Bobby Tolan got a solo homer in the seventh.

St. Louis scored another run in the fifth on a single, stolen base, throwing error and a single by Roger Maris.

Ray Washburn got credit for the victory, his first since returning to action from the disabled list. He got help from reliever Joe Hoerner over the last three and one-third innings. The loss went to Mel Queen.

Cincinnati outhit the Cards, 12 to 6, but the home run ball easily made the difference.

St. Louis returns home to Busch Memorial Stadium tonight for a series with the Atlanta Braves. Nelson Briles, who has been spending most of his time of late as a reliever, will start for the Cards. Phil Niekro will open for the Braves.

Bristol Has New 2-Year Contract

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dave Bristol has a new two-year contract to keep managing the Cincinnati Reds through the 1969 season.

Bristol's rehiring was announced by Francis L. Dale, at the news conference Thursday.

Bristol took over as interim manager of the Reds on July 13, 1966, while the team was in a bad slump. The Reds finished seventh that season, but this year they have been constantly among the pennant contenders despite a rash of injuries.

The terms of the contract were not disclosed, but the 34-year-old North Carolina resident probably will make around $40,000 a year.

Lothamer Back In Good Form

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — Ed Lothamer, a defensive stalwart at tackle for the Kansas City Chiefs until a shoulder injury sidelined him in 1966, was a fireball in summer training camp Thursday.

"I am now satisfied that Lothamer is completely well," said coach Hank Stram.

Stram also was enthusiastic about Gloster Richardson, a 6-foot, 200-pound flanker from Jackson State of Mississippi. Richardson has been in training camp three years and was on the taxi squad in 1966. He caught several long passes in Thursday's workout.

Local BR All-Stars Win Game

The Senior Babe Ruth All-Stars parlayed a nine hit attack with fine defensive play and strong pitching to down the Warrensburg American Legion Post 131 6 to 4 this week.

Most of the scoring occurred in the first inning as Warrensburg struck for three runs and the All-Stars countered with five. In the first for the Legion team Young drew a pass, Culp was hit by a pitch and Keisker drew a pass. Ted Bozarth and the catcher, Defrain, both delivered base hits and Warrensburg lead by three.

The All-Stars quickly went ahead in their half of the first as Larry Neville walked to start the inning. Gary Eck drilled a triple over the right fielder's head and Larry Bechtel doubled to left. Dennie Boehne and George Williams followed with base hits to give the All-Stars a lead they never relinquished.

Larry Bechtel scored the sixth run in the fifth as he singled to center, stole second and third and came across on a wild pitch. Dennis Boehne, Larry Bechtel and George Williams each had two hits to pace the All-Stars. Larry Neville, Gary Eck and Mike Robertson each chipped in with hits for the All-Stars. The locals split their pitching chores with Mike Kraxberger, Jerry Morris and Alan Mc Curdy each working three innings.

Kraxberger worked the first three innings, giving up three runs on two hits. Morris worked the next three and gave up no runs on two hits. McCurdy went the final three and permitted one run on one hit. Warrensburg scored its final run in the ninth as Patrick walked and scored on a base hit by Keisker.

The fielding play of the evening was turned in by shortstop George Williams of the All-Stars as he went far into the hole for a ground ball for a force play at second.

Batteries for the Legion team: Tom Morgan, Ronnie Culp, Gary Keisker and Defrain. For the Babe Ruth All-Stars —Mike Kraxberger, Jerry Morris, Alan McCurdy and Larry Neville.

The All-Stars will meet the Legion team next Saturday night in Warrensburg. Game time will be 8 p.m.

Desire for Others' Respect Leads to Personal Impasse

Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

My brother's wedding to a girl he has been engaged to for three years is set for June. He has practically told my husband and me that he doesn't want to go through with it. Then he starts talking about how much he likes the girl, how faithful she has been, how she counts on him and how he couldn't hurt her by telling her how he feels. We like the girl but can't understand why she doesn't see how upset he is. He looks actually sick when she gets to talking about the wedding plans. . . .

ANSWER: You certainly can't tell him whether he wants to marry or not. Let him go on talking to you. If he feels free to keep on expressing his opposing wishes, he may himself recognize which is really his.

As you listen, you might consider the idea that all this overanxious concern for his fiancee includes much concern for himself.

We human beings are very fond of telling ourselves that we are afraid of hurting the other fellow when we are really afraid of hurting his fine opinions of us. Your brother's insistence on this girl's dependence on him may be actually his dependence on her—on her flattering view of him as a wonderful, loyal decisive young man who is never confused about anything and always knows exactly what he wants. His recoil from the idea of discussing his problem with her may be recoil, not so much from hurting her, as recoil from revealing himself to her as a disappointing person.

Is he a young man who makes a god of Loyalty?

Loyalty, you know is not always a virtue. As we grow, our loyalties should change with us. As we learn more about the people and ideas which have commanded our loyalty, truth with ourselves may require us to withdraw it from them. If the American colonists had stayed loyal to King George III we would have no United States. If everyone had remained faithful to the idea that vaccination was sinful, smallpox would still plague us. Loyalty that refuses us to honor the growth that is made in us by new experience can be a shackling and destructive thing, forcing us to pretend to be a person that we have ceased to be.

If what I have said seems true to you, you might ask your brother, "What about loyalty to yourself?"

I repeat, you cannot tell him whether to marry or not to marry his fiancee. As he says, he "likes" her. And affection is not a bad basis for marriage. But his affection is not the problem. The problem is, I think, his need to present himself to her as Superman—a hero above confusion, above struggle and indecision. By not confiding his conflict to her, he is permitting the girl for whom he feels such concern to marry a man she doesn't know.

In some foreign countries young people don't ask to know the people they marry. Your brother and his fiancee don't live in such a country. In America we are entitled to know the people we marry.

What's Proper Procedure Planning House Warming?

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I have heard about house warmings but have never been to one. Would it be proper for me to give one for my daughter and her husband who have a new house? If this is proper, which is the best time —an evening or a Sunday afternoon? What would I serve? Please clue me in on the things I need to know about this.—MRS. D. H.

DEAR POLLY—I can understand the problem Mrs. W. H.'s husband has been having with splinters getting in his hands. I, too, worked with lumber for awhile and I found gloves to be a great help. Tell the man to buy himself some gloves and spare his wife the task of removing splinters every night.—JACK

DEAR POLLY—Mr. W. H. can get the splinters out of his fingers by taking a narrow-mouthed bottle (like a pop bottle), fill it with extremely hot water and let stand for a few minutes. Dump the water out, put the finger tip in the bottle tip for a short time and then pull out. The suction will pull the splinter out painlessly and completely or at least to where tweezers can get to it.—MRS. E.

DEAR POLLY—I would like to pass on what I find a valuable-to-gardeners Pointer that I discovered and use every season with never-failing success. I cut the top and bottom from a one-pound coffee can (the low type is preferable) and place this around a tomato plant as a collar, only pressing it about ½-inch into the ground. This may be left on for the life of the plant as it does not go deep enough to interfere with root growth. In fact, it seems to hold the water around the plant until most of it drains to the roots. I never lose a plant to cut worms.—NAOMI.

Movement Began 14 Months Ago

CAMIRI, Bolivia (AP) — Two young strangers dressed as farmers showed up in this mountainous corner of southeast Bolivia 14 months ago and let it be known they were interested in buying land for a pig farm.

The men were brothers, Guido and Roberto Peredo, who described themselves to the local farm population as men of wealth. After inspecting various sites they purchased a seemingly useless tract of brush land 50 miles north of this oil town. It is deep in a thickly forested mountain district known as the Nancahuazu—pronounced Yahn-kah-wah-zoo-after a small stream that winds through it.

This was to become the cradle of the Bolivian guerrilla movement, the latest flare-up of Cuban-directed rebel uprisings in Latin America. The recognizable leaders of the movement are the two strangers who came on the scene more than a year ago. The sons of a farmer in northeast Bolivia, the pair joined the Bolivian Communist party and visited Cuba in 1965 - 66 probably on training missions. They are in their 20s.

Many Bolivians believe the real boss is Ernesto Guevara, the Argentine-Cuban revolutionary who disappeared from Cuba in March, 1965.

The guerrilla outbreak wasn't taken too seriously at first, but Bolivian authorities and foreign observers now regard it as at least a drain on the thin finances of this landlocked, long-troubled country. The guerrillas are not yet considered a threat to the government itself, but public indifference toward both the guerrillas and the government poses a danger.

An indication of long and studied preparation has convinced officials the guerrilla idea and its organizational nucleus came from Cuba and that it is linked to Marxist movements in neighboring Brazil, Argentina, Chile and Peru.

This causes skeptics to ask: "Why Bolivia, a relatively poor prize?"

Prominent Bolivians cite the nation's position in the heart of South America and "historic antecedents" demonstrating that ideas born in this country have spread. The continent's fight for liberation from Spain began in 1809 in virtually the same mountains.

The Peredo brothers went on shopping trips to villages, made friends with farmers and peasants. The men with them, some say, stayed in the background.

Nocturnal traffic to and from the Peredo farm aroused suspicion that a large-scale cocaine operation was under way. Cocaine is derived from the leaf of the coca plant that people around here chew for energy and to eliminate hunger pains.

In late February, farmers reported seeing three large truckloads of cement bags heading into the forest. Cement is rare in the area, where almost all construction is of mud or bamboo.

Army officials believe the bags were filled with weapons and ammunition.

Alerted by the reports of strange activities, the army sent out three patrols in February and March without uncovering anything unusual. A fourth patrol, on a different mission March 23, stumbled onto the guerrillas, and seven troops were killed.

Second Shipment Planned

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An American Quaker organization which recently transported a cargo of medical supplies to North Vietnam in defiance of the U. S. government today made known it will try to make another shipment soon.

"It's a matter of conscience," said Lawrence Scott, 58, the white-haired leader of the project. "When people are being bombed and are bleeding, it's a religious right and duty to help them, whoever they are."

Despite a tightening web of federal pressures and roadblocks, the undeterred task group is going ahead with its planning gathering funds, screening volunteers, awaiting a go-ahead from the North Vietnam Red Cross.

"We're lining up a new boat crew," Scott said. The sponsoring unit, of which he is executive secretary, is called simply, "A Quaker Action Group," to indicate it is only one of various Quaker approaches to the situation.

It operates from a scuffed three-room office on the second floor of the old, red-brick 12th Street Quaker Meeting House in midtown Philadelphia, in an atmosphere of informal improvisation—of cluttered mail, peace posters, ringing telephones and anticipation.

"I'm excited," said a tow-headed college boy when asked how he felt as a potential recruit for the intended new voyage into Haiphong. He's among about 40 who have offered their services for the outlawed mission, aimed at helping civilian war casualties.

It still is contingent on approval from North Vietnam, Scott said, adding that arrangements are being made through correspondence handled from abroad to avoid government interception. However, the sailing date is expected to be in late August.

Scott said the organization has chartered for a year's use the 50-foot U. S. ketch, Phoenix, which carried an initial $10,000 medical shipment to Haiphong last March. The crewmen on that voyage were ordered deprived of their passports.

In Washington Thursday, officials of the U. S. Treasury Department said it had recommended to the Justice Department prosecution of those crew members under the assets control provisions of the Trading with the Enemy Act.

The Justice Department said the case is under review. Conviction would carry a maximum penalty of 10 years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

"We don't feel that what we're doing is unpatriotic, even though it may be illegal," said Sam Legg of Baltimore, an adviser on the project.

"Essentially, patriotism is doing what's good for the country and the world, and I don't see how this humanitarian effort to relieve suffering can be anything else but that. I consider myself a loyal American as I break some American laws."

Challenging laws considered opposed to higher ethical obligations is an old Quaker tradition, forged in early persecutions, in their 19th century underground railroad for fugitive slaves, in their widespread disavowal of modern war.

Studios' Game Is Confusing

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "They're changing heads of studios so fast," sighed a harassed agent, "that I don't know whom to be nice to any more."

That was one reaction to the game of musical chairs that has been going on at the major studios. Almost every big company has had a change of production chief within the past two years. Last week three of the studios acquired new bosses.

In a surprise move, MGM President Robert H. O'Brien appointed Clark G. Ramsay as vice president in charge of the studio. Ramsay had been a publicist at Universal before swithching to MGM where he became assistant to O'Brien.

Robert Wietman, who had held the production reins at MGM since 1960, had resigned in January to become vice president in charge of production at Columbia. The present head of the Columbia Studio, Mike Frankovich, is quitting to become an independent producer.

The Warner Bros.-Seven Arts amalgamation last Friday meant that Jack L. Warner, the so-called "Last Tycoon," would be leaving his long-time post as studio head. Supplanting him is Kenneth Hyman, son of Seven Arts founder Eliot Hyman.

Paramount studio is now being headed by its third boss in l ee years, former actor Robert Evans. Richard Zanuck took over direction of the 20th Century-Fox studio in 1964 after his father, Darryl Zanuck, returned to leadership of the corporation. The Disney studio is being operated by a committee under the supervision of Roy Disney, after the death last December of Walt.

The only studio to maintain the same leadership is Universal, where Edward E. Muhl has been vice president in charge of production since 1953. He survived the M.C.A takeover in 1962.

But the movie business today requires aggressive management. No longer can the studios sit still and let the deals come to them. Production arrangements must be actively sought by the studio heads. And not only in Hollywood. American films are now being made all over the world.

In the view of this reporter, the biggest challenge facing the new studio bosses is the closing of what might be called the quality gap. Nearly everyone realizes that the excitement in the film medium now comes from Europe, especially England. Much of the Hollywood product, though technically expert, seems dull and old-fashioned.

Critics have been pointing this out. The New York Times' Bosley Crowther recently blasted the "sloppiness, immaturity and shoddy work of one after another of the American movies that have come along this year."

The Los Angeles Times' Charles Champlin likewise deplored four recent big-budget movies, all of them backed by American companies, "for failing what they set out to do." His critique was titled "So Little From So Much."

Next week I will begin writing a series of articles from European film capitals. One of my missions will be to investigate how the foreign film makers, lacking the immense resources of the Hollywood studios, have been able to produce so much from so little.

Drumming Is Hobby Of Crane

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There's an actor in town who always demands a studio dressing room fully furnished with gym equipment, a steam bath and a sauna bath. And another who moves his pool table into every dressing room assigned to him.

I'm different. In my dressing room I only have a full set of drums augmented by a complete hi-fi outfit boasting the biggest set of speakers this side of the Hollywood Bowl. When visitors to the "Hogan's Heroes" stages comment that my quarters are loud, they're not talking about the wallpaper or draperies.

This love of drumming isn't new. It's been with me ever since I saw Gene Kupa's band at the New York World's Fair in 1939. I wasn't yet in my teens, but I knew then that I just had to be a drummer with a big band.

I honestly feel I would have pursued a career in music except for the fact that the decisive point in my life occurred at about the same time of great days of the big dance bands ended, at the end of World War II.

Funny thing, but I'd never have ventured into radio except that it was a job that would keep me close to music. During the 10-year span of my early-morning radio show in Hollywood, I kept a drum and cymbal at mikeside and constantly drummed accompaniment to the records I played.

During 16 years in radio, I never gave up my drumming ambitions. As recently as six years ago I was taking penny ante jobs with a band I had formed, even though at the time I was making $75,000 a year from my radio work.

At the studio, the time spent between scenes waiting for cameras and lights to be moved and adjusted can be a bore if you don't have some sort of a hobby to pass the time. Mine is retiring to my dressing room to "sit in" vicariously on recorded numbers with the orchestras of Count Basie, Woody Herman and Henry Mancini.

During the first year of filming the series, I was so involved with developing the character of Hogan that I didn't have time to relax between scenes. But as we began the second season I knew it was time to get out the old drums and records again.

The crew quickly grew accustomed to the frenetic sounds coming from my dressing room on the Desilu Gower lot. This season we have moved to Desilu Cahuenga, a move many people think was forced by my drumming. The boss lady of the place L UCY, Ball, and her husband, Gary Morton were always dropping by my dressing room t o request numbers.

Or was it only Gary? As I recall, Lucy would just stand there, fastening on that football helmet, after pulling on her ear muffs, after screwing in her ear plugs.

Was she trying to tell me something?

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Jim Rheim of Chula Vista, Calif., upset Marty Fleckman, low amateur in the U.S. Open, 2- up Thursday in the second round of the Trans-Mississippi Tournament.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Bert E. Rose Jr., 47, a veteran of 20 years in college and professional athletics, Thursday was named the first general manager of the New Orleans Saints of the National Football League.

Extend Date On Closing

Aircraft Guide Problem To Be Sent To Board

Congressman William Randall reported to William Hall, Industrial Development director, and Gary Cooper, executive manager of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, that the Federal Aviation Agency had granted a 45-day extension on the question of closing the Blackwater VOR station.

Randall's report came a few hours after a telephone conversation with Hall in which Randall expressed only optimism about saving the very high omni-range station which guides aircraft to area airports.

In the earlier conversation, Randall mentioned only the possibility of an extension, but then called later to say the 45-v extension had been made official.

Hall reported at a meeting Thursday morning that he had called for a special gathering of the Sedalia Airport Board at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in his office to discuss the problem.

He indicated that the airport board should take up the issue at a hearing sometime next month concerning the fate of the VOR station. No specific date on the hearing was announced.

In his monthly report to the city council earlier this week, Hall said about the FAA action: "The Director of this department (Industrial Development Department) seriously questions the integrity, foresight, or the ability of engineers or economists who have planned such moves. Of course, they do not live in this area, or fly in and out of this area, and possibly could care less what happens in this area."

He further charged that the FAA plan to discontinue operation of the VOR station at Blackwater is being considered " . . . without regard for air traffic safety."

Hall said he telephoned Randall Wednesday afternoon. In that conversation, he said, Randall reported there was a little more hope and encouragement as a result of efforts to stop the FAA from closing the station

Power to Facility

Hall said he pointed out that George Ray, manager of the Central Missouri Electrical Cooperative, which provides the VOR station with power, had not received notification of discontinuance. Hall said the co-op had a contract requiring 30 days notice before closing of a station. He indicated, however, that Randall did not seem to feel this was any intimation of the FAA's plans.

Hall also had a copy of a letter from Richard H. Ichord, congressman from the Eighth Missouri District, which stated that Ichord had been working with Randall on the issue.

The letter, addressed to J. Leo Hayobb of the Marshall Chamber of Commerce, said, in part, Ichord has ". . . hope that we will be able to save the station."

Nothing Firm Yet

The VOR station was to be closed July 20. According to Hall, Randall said Wednesday: "I don't know that the cause is lost. They may extend for 30 days, but that isn't official." What prompted the FAA reversal in position was not known.

There seems no immediate end to the division in thought on the issue, but the Randall and Sedalia groups are continuing to argue the case. Hall said the discussion would continue as long as there seems some hope the station could be kept.

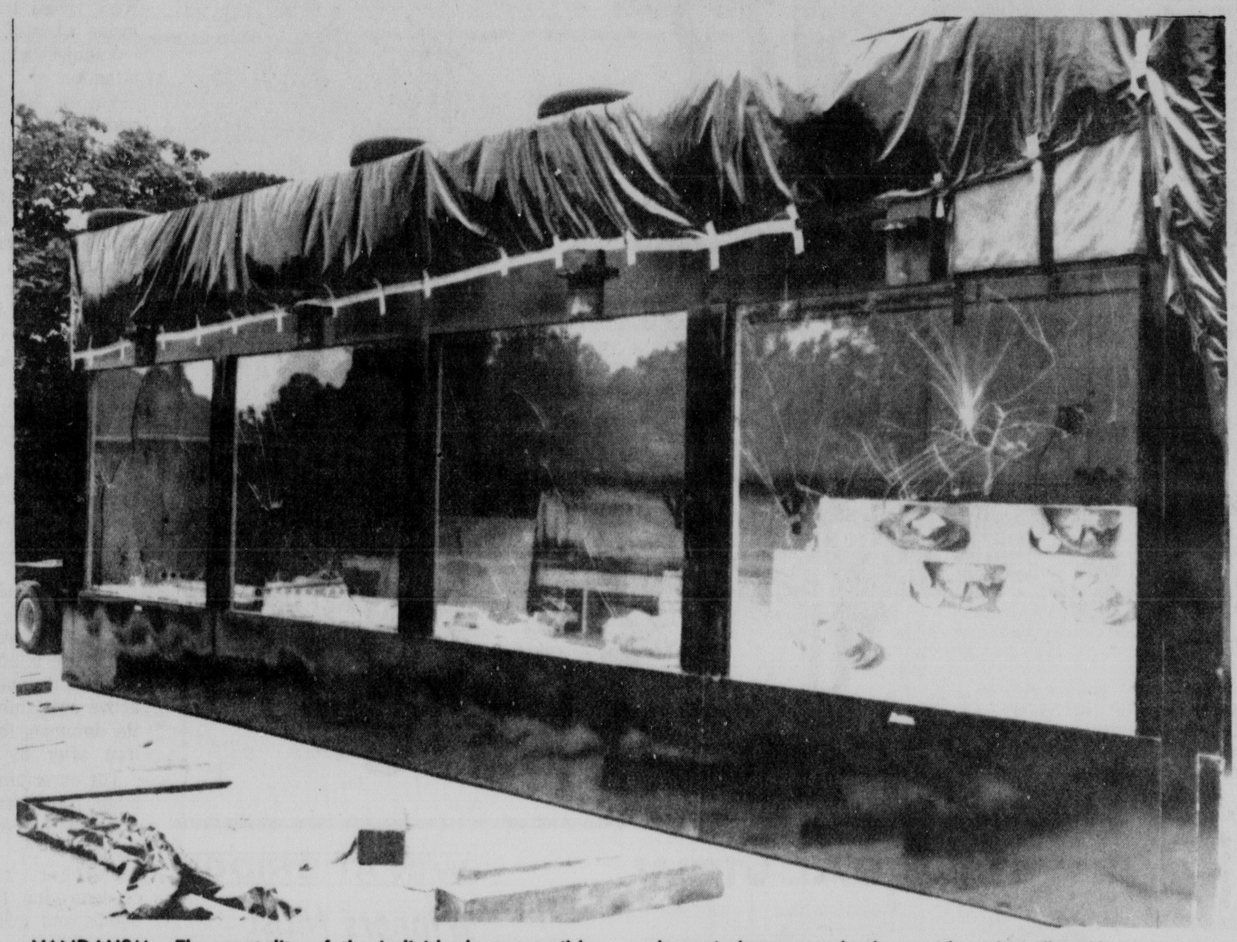

The basic purpose of the station is to help guide aircraft using instrument navigation to their landing places. Several large local manufacturers use such planes and these, according to Hall, would not be able to land here without the VOR station at Blackwater.

New Plant Bids Sought

Sedalia industrial development director William H. Hall said Wednesday the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation's Metal Division, Olin Conductors, will announce results of letting contracts in about two weeks.

Hall said bid forms have been sent out for part of the work on the new operation. He added that no information concerning the bids is available now, but should be in two weeks.

The new plant will be located west of Sedalia.

Veto Only One

Hearnes Signs New Measures Into Law

JEFFERSON CITY

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has signed into law 66 of the bills passed by the legislature and sent to him for his approval as of Wednesday.

So far Hearnes has vetoed only one bill because of a legal technicality in the way it was written and the fact that another bill passed later covered the same subject.

Fifteen appropriation bills have been signed. The last minute catchall appropriation bill is yet to be approved. If it is, as expected, the final appropriation total will come to $1 billion, 143 million.

Of the 66 bills the governor has approved, 21 deal with local problems of individual counties and cities.

The most important is authorization for St. Louis County to hold an election to determine whether voters want the non-partisan court plan.

It is a proposal that many leaders in the county have long advocated but it also has strong opposition from political figures.

Only two liquor bills have been approved by the governor so far. One would establish uniform closing hours on Saturday night for all places selling liquor. Closing time would be 1:30 a. m. Sunday morning throughout the state.

The other would permit the sale of liquor by the drink on New Year's Eve even if it happens to be Sunday, as is the case this year.

Three bills dealing with workmen's compensation and unemployment benefits also have been signed by the governor.

One would lower the requirement for bringing a firm under workmen's compensation coverage from 10 employes to 7.

The other two deal with unemployment compensation. One lowers from 7½ per cent to 6 per cent the figure used to determine employer payments. The other raises the maximum unemployment payment to the employe from $45 to $53 per week.

An increase in the salary scale of the Highway Patrol was also signed. The bills also adds a new rank of corporal in order to help career minded troopers with outstanding records.

The governor signed a bill setting up an insurance advisory board.

Authorization was given to begin planning for a new office building.

Blind who have applied will have first chance at concessions in public buildings.

Two bills dealing with concealed weapons were also signed.

One would make it a felony to carry a concealed weapon and make a mandatory prison term the punishment. The other would change the issuing authority for permits from the clerk of the circuit court to the sheriff of each county.

A commission would be set up to locate and appropriately mark the graves of all former governors.

Another would permit the removal of the statue of Gen. John J. Pershing from the state capitol grounds to his birthplace at LaClede, Mo.

Another would exempt agriculture chemicals and pesticides from the state sales tax.

And in order to be on the ballot in a general election a candidate must first have been nominated on a primary ballot.

Some difficulty on this score occurred in St. Louis during the last election when a candidate was defeated in the primary and then filed as an independent in the general election for a second crack at the office.

Gambling Gear To Be Destroyed

Gambling equipment found in a downtown Sedalia building July 5 was ordered by Magistrate Court Judge Frank Armstrong to be destroyed after a hearing Wednesday morning.

Judge Armstrong ordered all 143 cartons of punchboards and other equipment burned at the Sedalia city dump on south Highway 65 this coming Friday.

Sheriff Emmett Fairfax will have the authority to make the move after Prosecuting Attorney Henry Keeler files a judgment entry.

The equipment was found at the Peters Sales Building, Second and Osage, by Sedalia police while they were investigating a report of a break-in there. The gambling devices were found throughout the structure.

Expect Progress In Future

NEWARK, N.J. — A Negro leader predicts that a revolutionary movement to develop economic, political and cultural resources for Negroes will grow out of a national black power conference opening today in this riot-scarred city.

"We are going to set forth the need for developing programs that do not bring 'relief' to people — but do bring power," said Dr. Nathan W. Wright Jr., conference chairman and director of urban work for the Episcopal diocese of Newark.

"This is going to cause a great deal on debate and stir in many, many circles," he said in an interview. The black power slogan sent the civil rights movement into divisive debate over its meaning and effect when it was seized as a rallying cry on the 1966 Mississippi civil rights march.

Wright, articulating his view, said Negroes must first "set their own house in order." The roots of their problems, he said, "are to be found in the attitudes and lack of hope within the Negro community."

Chamber Post Kept By Cooper

Gary N. Cooper, executive manager of the Chamber of Commerce, was employed for another year by the Chamber board of directors at a meeting held Tuesday afternoon at the Farm and Home building. Mrs. Vivian Warren, secretary-treasurer, was also employed for another year.

The meeting was presided over by Carl Yates, Jr., president.

Cooper reported that a booklet containing the plans of the various directors for the remainder of the year, "Action Not Promises, Results, Not Excuses," is now at the printers.

Cooper also assisted William H. Hall with the Industry Appreciation Week held recently and visited the various industries to present them with aerial photos of their plants taken by Ralph Jones.

Cooper, who has just returned from Colorado where he attended an institute for chamber managers, told briefly of the ideas he gained there.

Neil Chapman announced that his division, the retail merchants, will have the Street Bazaar on July 31, at which time Ohio from Fifth to Main will be closed. The shopping centers will also participate in the Street Bazaar.

Mrs. Warren said membership was up over the same period last year.

Also attending the meeting were: Thomas T. Keating, first vice-president; J. L. Van Wagner, second vice-president; C. J. Chapman, James Callis, Robert Mason, H. Mike O'Connor, Cliff Barr, William O. Hiatt, Jr., William H. Hall, P. J. Hedderich, Herb Taylor, directors and P. Cecil Owen, past president.

Antiriot Bill Is Studied

WASHINGTON

While the House considers an antiriot bill supporters claim will jail traveling troublemakers, two Cabinet members contend the causes for riots can be found in city conditions.

Opponents of the House measure say it will add new fuel to the seething discontent of Negroes living under conditions cited Tuesday by Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

The bill—up for a vote today— would make it a federal crime punishable by up to five years in jail and a $10,000 fine to cross state lines or use interstate facilities to incite a riot.

Its author, Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., says it would put militant Negro leader Stokely Carmichael in jail and bring the FBI into the investigation of riots.

Flooded Cropland Aid Bid

JEFFERSON CITY

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has asked for additional federal aid for recently flooded cropland.

In a letter to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, J. P. Argenbright, assistant state commissioner of agriculture, suggested that the agency's disaster program include money for summer fallowing of flooded land. He said the flooded land should be disced and worked to prevent the spread of weeds and Johnson grass.

Argenbright suggested that farmers be granted $5 an acre for tillage of the flooded land.

The governor also expressed concern about flooding in north central and northeastern Missouri 10 days ago from rains of cloudburst proportions. Damage there is estimated at more than $600,000, almost $560,000 of which was to public property such as roads and bridges.

Hearnes also has received requests for aid from the Bootheel area of southeastern Missouri which also has suffered from abnormally heavy rainfall.

W. H. Ice, New Madrid County engineer, said additional funds are needed for spraying to prevent the spread of Johnson grass along the drainage ditches.

And James N. Conner of Portageville, executive vice president of the Missouri Cotton Producers Association, asked the governor to request liberalization of the lime program to allow farmers to plant wheat or use the land for diverted acreage.

Korean Marines Ambush VC Unit

American Troops Free Prisoners

SAIGON —Ten south Korean Marines ambushed about 150 Viet Cong in the jungle Wednesday night, killed 32 of the Communists and took four prisoners, Korean headquarters reported today.

The brief but successful ambush in coastal Quang Ngai Province was the heaviest ground fighting reported, but a company of American paratroopers located a Red prison camp in the jungle and freed 22 emaciated Vietnamese captives, including three women. There was no sign of any Americans in the bamboo stockade.

The Korean Marines caught the Viet cong company moving inland through the jungle about eight miles north of Quang Ngai City. The Korean squad was strung out along the trail and opened up with machine guns and a rain of grenades and mortars.

The fight lasted only a few minutes before the Communist troops plunged back into the jungle, leaving 22 weapons behind in addition to their dead and captured. The Koreans suffered no casualties, their headquarters reported.

The U.S. Command reported a comparative lull in the ground war for the 10th consecutive day and a decline in the number of Americans killed last week. The command said 175 Americans were killed, 1,443 wounded and 38 missing, compared with 282 killed, 1,170 wounded and one missing the week before.

Despite the lull in ground fighting, the air war against North Vietnam continued unabated with new raids on Hanoi's rail lines to Red China and oil dumps and other supply targets up and down the coast.

The American paratroops acted on an intelligence tip to surprise the Communists at the jungle prison camp in Quang Ngai Province, in the northern 1st Corps area.

The Americans from the 101st Airborne Division's 1st Brigade hacked their way through the jungle Wednesday and opened up on the guards around the camp who fled. The GI's plunged through the 10-foot bamboo wall, across a trench booby-trapped with sharp punji stakes and into the small clearing of bamboo huts.

They found a dozen men shackled in leg stocks and all the prisoners weak from hunger.

Helicopters took the prisoners to the paratroopers' base hospital for treatment and questioning. American and South Vietnamese troops rarely find Communist prison camps and information concerning them is highly valued.

Killed In Flaming Collision

New Navy Secretary Among Dead

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C.

The newly named secretary of the Navy, business executives, their wives and at least 10 children were among 82 persons killed in the flaming collision of a big jet airliner and a small private plane.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration said the small twin-engine private plane "was about 12 miles south of where it should have been," in the crash Wednesday over western North Carolina mountains.

Wreckage and bodies showered down over a wide stretch of the resort area near the city of Hendersonville in the Blue Ridge foothills.

The main part of the airliner missed a crowded youth camp by only 50 yards.

No one on either plane survived.

There apparently was no warning before the crash, witnesses said.

The smaller craft swept out of the mountain haze and ripped a huge gash in the airliner's side. The smaller plane blew up, some of it welded to the fuselage of the bigger craft.

The collision occured at 12:01 p.m., just three minutes after the Piedmont Airlines 727, carrying 74 passengers and a crew of five, took off from the Asheville airport en route from Atlanta to Washington.

The smaller plane, a Cessna 310 heading for Asheville, carried two Missouri businessmen and its pilot.

John T. McNaughton, 46, who was scheduled to become secretary of the Navy in about two weeks; his wife, Sarah, and their 11-year-old son, Theodore, were aboard the airliner. Theodore had been attending a summer camp, and his parents had come to take him back to Washington.

The passengers included about 30 food brokers from across the country. They had gathered in Atlanta and Asheville for the flight to White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., for a convention of the Stokely Van Camp Co.

Relates Struggle, Stabbing

WARRENSBURG, Mo. —A story of a struggle to the death in a village churchyard July 7 was told by one of the participants Tuesday, during a preliminary hearing.

Bound over for circuit court trial in October on a charge of second degree murder in the fatal stabbing of Robert Hugh Martin, 66, was Mrs. Ruth I. Grebe.

The Grebe and Martin families had feuded for two years over a small strip of disputed ground at the corner of the Salem Cumberland Presbyterian Church in the village of Robbins, Mo.

The Grebe home adjoins the churchyard. Martin was an elder in the church.

Larry Martin, 25, his son, testified at the hearing that he and his father were attacked by Mrs. Grebe and her son, Kenneth, 13. The boy is being held in juvenile detention.

Young Martin said he struck at the Grebe family dog with a piece of rubber hose he carried for protection while mowing the churchyard grass. As he fought off the dog, Martin testified, the Grebe boy stabbed him.

He said Mrs. Grebe joined in the struggle, and that she pulled him and his father to the ground. Martin said he saw his father covered with blood. The elder Martin died in an ambulance while being driven to a hospital in Warrensburg.

SAVE THE LAGOON—This group of youngsters joined in with others Wednesday in the program to raise money to repair the Liberty Park Lagoon. Living near the park entrance, they decided that as they spend many hours playing in the park the lagoon should be retained as a recreation spot to be enjoyed by thousands of park visitors each year. Million More Of Them!

Demographers—professional people counters—are happy about the nation's steadily declining birth rate, which this year will reach a record low.

But, characteristically, they unhappily warn that it's too early to celebrate our escape from becoming a totally urbanized, congested nation.

We are continuing to grow in numbers. Sometime around January 1, 1968, U.S. population will reach 200 million. Even taking into account the falling birth rate (the number of live births per thousand of population), one estimate is that at the turn of the century it will be 340 million.

One reason for the present birth rate decline, according to David Goldberg, University of Michigan sociologist, is the numerical disproportion between marriageable young women and marriageable young men.

Most women marry between 18 and 21, and they generally marry men between 21 and 24. But since 1956, there have been fewer men than women looking for them.

Today, there are about one million more women than men in these age categories, says Goldberg.

But this imbalance will disappear as the boys born in the baby boom 10 to 20 years ago become available. In fact, the imbalance will be reversed in the 1980s and we may very well see an upsurge in the birth rate.

As Robert C. Cook of the Population Reference Bureau puts it, "It is these boom babies who are now coming to the reproductive roost."

Another factor giving the demographers pause is the preference expressed by American women in various polls for a family of slightly more than three children.

If American women really do average 3.5 children from now to the end of the century, U.S. population would double to 400 million.

"Nearly all parents," says Cook, "ridicule the idea that having one additional child could contribute to a national calamity. Yet this is the situation today."

Back to Cash-and-Discount

For people who feel left out—or would like to get out—of the national credit card splurge, a retired policeman in Blue Island, Ill., thinks he has come up with just the ticket—uh, card. An "anticredit card," that is.

Called the "100 per cent Down Plan," the card entitles the bearer to a five per cent discount for any cash purchase of $5 or more in stores honoring the card. Edward J. Hayes, originator of the copyrighted plan, believes merchants will gladly give the discount because they will be getting their money right away, their bookkeeping will be simplified and there will be no middleman charges.

Advantages to holders of the lifetime cards include no bills at the end of the month, no interest or carrying charges and no danger if the card is lost or stolen.

Hayes is asking a dollar for the card, but if you pay cash you can knock off a nickel.

Sleep vs. Late TV

Late night television watching may be doomed by, of all things, the supersize mattress.

According to a survey gleefully reported by one mattress maker, many devotees of the late-late shows reduce their nighttime television viewing after they switch to a king-size bed.

Many people dislike going to bed because it's just plain uncomfortable, says the company. The viewers' remedy is to stay up as late as they can in hopes they will get sleepy enough that they won't care how poor the bed is. Thus television watching into the small hours is often more a matter of poor sleeping than an interesting show.

What do you say to that, Johnny Carson?

Intense Debate Over Arbitration

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The events which led to the enactment of the first National Compulsory Arbitration Law in the history of the United States are important. This was a law which labor fought tooth and nail to prevent, but which some labor unions by going on strike unwittingly helped to pass.

It was passed after three weeks of closed-door debate between Senate and House conferees, so intense that it sometimes got to the point of profanity.

Toward the climax of the long hassle, young Rep. John Dingell of Detroit, a Democratic champion of Labor, cursed in referring to the position of Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., leader of the Senate conferees.

Chairman Harley Staggers, D-W.Va., rapped for order, and Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., admonished his fellow Democrat.

"I know you're all excited, John, but Senator Morse is doing what he thinks best," he said.

One of the issues which sent off Dingell's temper beyond the boiling point was the fact that the House had avoided taking a roll call on the issue of compulsory arbitration while the Senate had taken roll call after roll call on every phase of the bill.

The vote was overwhelming—(70 to 15)—for discontinuing the procrastinating postponements in the Railroad dispute and bringing mediation to finality. The House, on the other hand, had taken only a teller vote, by which members file past the clerk and he records them, not by name, but by totals. This gives Congressmen the advantage of not putting themselves on record regarding a ticklish question involving Labor Unions.

"On the final vote," confided Rep. Dan Kuykendall, D-Tenn., "we didn't even have a teller vote. We ran for the doors."

"Either we have government by lobby or by law," argued Sen. Morse, referring to Labor's tremendous pressure to defeat the Railway bill.

He had asked the House conferees if, in view of their original failure to go on record with a roll-call vote, they would not submit the three-week deadlock back to a full vote of the House. But Chairman Staggers declined.

On Thursday at 8 p.m., at the last meeting of the conferees, Sen. Randolph again asked his fellow West Virginian to take the issue back to the House.

"In view of the notice from the Unions that they are going out on strike over the weekend, won't the House take another vote on this?" asked Randolph.

Adamant Rep. Staggers—

Again Chairman Staggers answered no.

Staggers was adamant to the very end. On the morning after the nation woke up to find all railway transportation at a standstill, the House and Senate conferees voted to accept the Morse-administration bill for limited compulsory arbitration—with one exception. That exception was Chairman Staggers. Even intensely pro-labor Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., voted to take the Arbitration Bill out of conference. But not the Congressman from West Virginia. He was the only conferee who voted no. This seemed hard to understand, because there are 40,000 coal miners in West Virginia who would have been out of work in about 48 hours with the railroads unable to haul coal.

The men who were essentially responsible for putting across the limited compulsory arbitration bill were three long-time friends of Labor but who argued that Labor's right to strike against the public must be limited.

They were:

1. President Johnson, who as a young Texas Congressman voted for the first Minimum Wage Law in history, when almost every other southern Congressman voted no.

2. Sen. Wayne Morse, former chairman of the War Labor Board, who has been Labor's staunchest spokesman in the Senate but who is adamant that Labor cannot disrupt the nation in time of war. He helped draft the current Railroad Bill which provides for mandatory acceptance of a Mediation Board's findings even if the terms are unacceptable.

3. Sen. Jennings Randolph, who as a young West Virginia Congressman voted for the Wagner Labor Act and the Fair Labor Practices Act, the Magna Carta of Labor, but who maintains that the right to strike cannot be put ahead of the welfare of the nation. Randolph was the only Democrat supporting Morse among the Senate conferees.

Morse and Johnson disagree vigorously on the Vietnam war, but Morse contends that since we are in the war our system of transportation cannot be tied up.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Nurses' Aide capping ceremonies were held at the Fifth street Methodist church for the second group of women to complete the essential training course sponsored by the Red Cross and the Office of Civilian Defense. Dr. C. D. Osborne gave the address. Aides who were capped: Elizabeth Buckley, Miss Helen Fricke, Miss Rowena Patterson, Mrs. Pearl Granfield, Mrs. Frances Johnson, Mrs. DeLaine Lange, Mrs. Della Richardson, Mrs. Ethel Rosenquist, Mrs. Margaret Morrison, Mrs. Ella White, Mrs. E. W. Whitteman, Miss Joan Moore.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Work on the Grand avenue bridge over Pearl River north of Sedalia on the Georgetown road has been completed and the road is open for traffic.

—1927—

The Pettis County Bar Association at a meeting in the offices of its president, George F. Longan, passed resolutions petitioning the Pettis County Court to install an elevator in the Court House building. A committee composed of J. D. Bohling, Dan E. Kennedy and H. T. Williams was appointed to present the resolutions.

Sun Worshippers

There remains in Stonhenge, England, an altar which belonged to a sect of Druid worshipers who lived there about 3,500 years ago. Every year hundreds of Druids in white robes with crimson hoods gather at dawn to perform their "Hail the Golden Orb" ritual.

It makes no difference to the moden Druids if there is no sun. By the "dawn's early light" they burn incense and oak leaves to perpetuate the symbols of their forefathers.

A visit to the altar at Stonhenge is a religious ceremony in itself. The massive stones, which have become a tourist attraction in England, were believed to have been dragged there by sun worshipers at least 2,000 B.C. Barbed wire and police dogs retrain the curious tourists from disturbing the Druids in prayers. They face the East, chanting their Druid tunes though there was narry a ray of sun breaking through the dawn.

It takes a powerful faith to believe there is a pot of gold at the end of a rainbow or to worship the sun which does not shine.

For the Bluebirds

The beautiful blue bird, one of John Audubon's favorite posers which graced that nature artist's memorial stamp a few years ago, is known in song and story as the bird of happiness, but it took a blue bird housing project to make the blue birds happy in Raleigh, North Carolina.

W. H. Young, a house painter, missed the happiness the bluebirds brought to his area. The poor birds didn't have any houses. He knew that bluebirds liked rectangular houses with a single hole and no perch. So, when he wasn't painting people's houses, he started building houses for birds. He sells the houses virtually at cost and has sold about 500 this season. The word got around in bird language that there was no bluebird housing shortage around Raleigh. Of course, there was also a little birdseed available in the house placed there by the thoughtful purchaser.

Now there is true bluebird happiness for both the birds and Mr. Young. He has set a good example for bird renewal with lost cost housing.

Soviet Is Losing Its Shirt In Egypt, Hanoi and Cuba

By LEON DENNEN
Foreign News Analyst
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA)

Russia finally learned the hard way what the United States has long known—that one likes a meddling rich uncle only when he writes his last will and testament.

Consider Moscow's problems with Nasser's Egypt and Fidel Castro's Cuba. With North Vietnam, these are Russia's most costly clients.

Even by conservative estimates the Kremlin spent some $3 billion to arm and feed Egypt. But Nasser always resented Soviet agents who tried to meddle in his internal affairs.

Considerable evidence now indicates that Egypt's dictator ignored Moscow's counsel when he sparked the Middle Eastern conflict by blockading the Gulf of Aqaba. In four short days Russia's $3 billion went up in smoke in the Sinai desert and Soviet policy in the Middle East lay in ruins.

Russia's trouble with Castro's Cuba is more proof that "wars of national liberation" and proletarian internationalism are an extremely expensive and frustrating business. The Kremlin leaders themselves have hinted recently that Moscow's subsidies to Castro amounted to about $300 million a year. This calculation did not include the cost of arms supplies.

Yet when Premier Kosygin went to Cuba after his Glassboro meeting with President Johnson he was treated to a very frigid reception. No citizens lined the streets of Havana to cheer him as they did in Glassboro.

Only after Kosygin agreed to increase Russian economic aid to Cuba and not to meddle in Castro's revolutionary affairs did Havana's bearded dictator call out school children to wave little Soviet flags for the departing premier.

However, Castro is not easily appeased. He still refuses to stop biting the Soviet hand that feeds him. As far as Castro is concerned the Russians are still cramping his revolutionary style. In this, incidentally, he agrees entirely with Red China's Mao Tse-tung.

The Russians, in the 50 years of the existence of their Communist dictatorship, never let revolutionary ideology interfere with the national interests of the Soviet state. They thus tried, among other things, to develop and expand economic trade with Latin America. But Moscow reckoned without Fidel Castro.

Last March the Cuban dictator, in an undisguised attack on Russia, condemned those who trade with "oligarchic" regimes in Latin America.

"What would North Vietnam say if we, revolutionary Cuba, traded with South Vietnam?" Castro asked.

Pointing an accusing finger at Moscow, he said: "Whoever helps the oligarchs is helping the war of repression against the people. Not everything which is red in the world is revolutionary."

Like Red China, the Red Cuban leader in effect told the Red Russians that they were false Marxist-Leninists.

Did Kosygin change Castro's mind during his sojourn in Cuba?

Judging by Castro's unbridled attacks on the pro-Russian Communist party of Venezuela and the stepped-up guerrilla warfare in Bolivia and other Latin-American countries, the Soviet premier's counsel of caution and moderation fell on deaf ears.

Indeed, even as he asked for more economic and military aid, Castro told the Russians not to meddle in his revolutionary affairs.

The fact is that in Cuba as in Egypt and North Vietnam the political return on the Russian taxpayer's rubles can only be described as highly inadequate.

The U.S. taxpayer long has been accustomed to that fact of life.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Winners Must Think Early

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Strangely enough the best way to save time at the bridge table is to stop to think. This isn't a paradox. It merely means that you should do your thinking early and get it over. Then you can play the rest of the hand quickly.

South reversed this procedure. There was no reason to think about the first trick. South had to follow suit.

West continued with the queen of clubs and once more South didn't stop to think. He played the king from dummy. East ruffed and returned the queen of hearts and all of a sudden South had a problem. Two tricks were gone where the woodbine twineth and there were potential losers in each red suit.

South thought awhile. Then he thought some more. Then he pondered. Then he communed with nature. Then he cogitated. Then he decided to duck in both hands. East led a second heart. This time South won in dummy.

Then he studied the hand. Then he looked at the ceiling. Then he played a couple of rounds of trumps. Then he looked at the previous trick. Then he played a heart to his ace. Hearts failed to break and he finally gave up. The last heart could be ruffed in dummy but the defenders had three tricks and were going to get a diamond trick eventually.

Look how much time South could have saved if he had done his thinking early and let West's queen of clubs hold the second trick. West would continue with the jack of clubs. South would play low from dummy again and ruff in his own hand. Then he would proceed to make his contract with no fuss at all.

Look Inside Box Into Red China

By JAMES MARLOW AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk raised the lid just enough for a brief look inside a box of dynamite—Red China of the future—a subject which seems to be getting scant public attention.

Yet, it will haunt this country, probably for generations.

In the midst of one of his infrequent news conferences he warned Red China and Asian Communists generally against "taking any comfort" from Britain's decision to withdraw militarily from the Far East by the mid-1970s.

Countries in that area, he said, are bent on defending their freedom. And he said they have the help of various nations, including the United States. "We'll get on with the job," he added.

He didn't explain how this country—after its experience in Vietnam—would help other Asian countries against aggression. Would it mean possibly the involvement of the United States for generations?

That there is critical trouble ahead with Red China seems certain.

At the moment it has stayed out of the Vietnam war perhaps for one of several reasons, some of them cynical.

It has been having enough internal trouble to keep it busy for a while without getting into a war with the United States.

If there is one thing clear from China's present internal disquiet, it is that Mao Tse-tung wants above everything for his idea of communism to be the dominant force in his country not only now but long after his death.

The uncertainties of a war with the United States might force changes which, if he only had time to establish his own ideas more firmly, could not occur.

Further, the Red Chinese have been concentrating for years on developing hydrogen bombs and missiles. They have had phenomenal success so far with the bomb development. A war might wreck the whole project.

But the last thing the Red Chinese have to worry about is being in a hurry to communize or dominate their neighbors. Those neighbors will be there a long time.

When China has the bomb fully developed, and the missiles to carry it, the balance of power in Asia will change, and perhaps change in the world. Therefore, it can afford cynically to sit idly by while the Vietnamese war goes on.

Suppose the North Vietnamese are forced to withdraw by the American forces. And, suppose further, with American help South Vietnam then creates a non-Communist, democratic government.

This could last for some years —but only so long as the missile-loaded Chinese found it convenient—until China decided it was time to move in, either directly or indirectly with local Communist forces.

Would the United States then be willing to risk an atomic war with China for South Vietnam? Or by then through fear and fatigue would South Vietnam be far more ready to accept Communist domination.

If this happens, then all of this country's sacrifices for Vietnam in these days will have been for nothing.

Or suppose a nuclear China began pressuring the other neighbors around its vast perimeter. Would their present resistance to communism, strong today when the United States and not Red China is the nuclear power, then melt?

It seems obvious that as China grows in nuclear strength the various local Communist parties within China's neighbors will feel strengthened and become more active.

The best hope for this country is that a more reasonable group will take over Red China's leadership when the fanatics of Mao's generation die off. At best this is only a hope, and maybe not a sound one.

What lies ahead looks like a nightmare.

Immortal Scarlett

As long as the motion picture 'Gone With the Wind' continues to be revived Vivien Leigh, who died recently from tuberculosis in London, will be immortal as Scarlett O'Hara.

The great civil war picture brought fame to its author Margaret Mitchell and to Vivien Leigh who played the starring role of Scarlett, but neither woman profited very much financially from the success of the book or the movie. Both women died unusual deaths. Margaret Mitchell was killed in an automobile accident, and Vivien Leigh was found dead in her bed, apparently in the final stages of tuberculosis.

Vivien was a truly great actress, dedicated to her art. She achieved world fame as Scarlett in the motion pcture, but even after winning an Oscar for that performance she once remarked that the role of Scarlett was very shallow compared to Shakespeare's 'Cleopatra.'

Many theaters remained dark as a tribute to this beautiful and talented actress following the news of her lonely death, and even Sir Laurence Olivier, her ex-husband to whom she had been married for twenty years, paid his respects to the woman he once loved.

A Lesson Here?

It's not surprising that kids are playing war games these days instead of cowboys and Indians.

They draw for sides. Losers have to be the Arabs.

Then the armies square off and go at it on the back yard battlefield. Israel, of course, mops up on the Arabs.

Inevitably, some of the warriors forget at times that it's all in fun.

"You cheated," an Arab yells at an Israeli. "You played rough. I'll tell your pop, and you just wait!"

"Go ahead and tell him," yelps the Israeli. "I'll tell my pop, too. Then see what happens!"

What happens is that the two pops run into each other at the neighborhood drugstore, compare reports, have a laugh and hurry home to mow the grass.

"Let 'em handle it themselves," they agree. "Let 'em learn how to get along without fighting."

Which shows these dads haven't been paying attention. Anybody ought to know this isn't the way it's done in real warfare and national crises.

But it does seem to work with kids. Do you suppose . . .?

Yellowed Blind Tapes Disrupt Decor for Her

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Please, will you ask one of your kind and wise friends out there to provide me with a wee bit of wisdom? Less than two years ago I replaced two of my old white cloth-taped Venetian blinds with new plastic-taped ones and the crazy tapes have turned yellow, which I neither like nor appreciate. I have soaked them in practically every cleaning agent on the market and still have superwhite slats and yellowed tapes.—MRS. T. P.

DEAR MRS. T. P.—I am sure that if there is a cure for your woes one of our readers will have it. If not, you might try what I did. I covered yellowed tapes with grosgrain ribbon (a color to go with the room's scheme) the same width as the tapes. This was quickly and easily stapled on. Since the ribbon was navy blue, the tops of the staples were first treated to a quick brush over with black paint so they were not easily seen.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—Trash cans were always being turned over in our neighborhood and the contents scattered. One of my neighbors put his on an 18-inch-square platform, drove two iron pipes into the ground on each side of the can so the handles slipped down over the pipes. We all liked this plan and the results. Since adopting the plan (some used wooden stakes) we have a much neater neighborhood.—EDNA

DEAR POLLY—Tell Mary that one way to get the spoiled meat odor out of her freezer is to put vanilla flavoring in a dish in the freezer and keep it there for a day or two. An even quicker way is to wipe the freezer out with a cloth soaked with the vanilla.—BETTY

DEAR POLLY—Mary could put some activated charcoal in her freezer to remove the odor. Leave it two or three days with the door closed and perhaps change it once during that time. My refrigerator dealer told me to do this and it worked like a charm.—LUCILLE

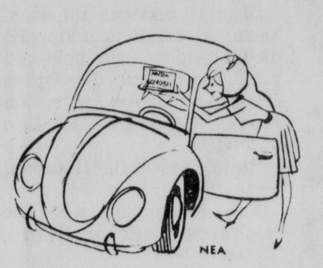

DEAR POLLY—To remove odors from a freezer or refrigerator, put one pound of fresh coffee grounds in a cloth bag, tie it up and place inside. Leave until all odor disappears. This even removed the odor of garlic from my freezer.—MRS. E. R.

Mary, take your pick. Surely if one of these does not work for the persistent odor of spoiled meat another will. Good luck.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I appreciate the help the column has been giving Harold's wife, who lost an arm. My 2-year-old daughter has cerebral palsy and we have a wonderful solution for bath time. For $8 we bought an actual size plastic boat at a discount store. Placed on an old kitchen table, it can be filled from the basement faucet and the water later siphoned into the floor drain. This allows our daughter to stretch out full-length and paddle round and round. If she bumps the plastic side it does not hurt her. This is high enough so we do not have to bend over as we watch and bathe her. She has gained crawling techniques since we started this and vocalizes so that both the occupational and speech therapists feel we have discovered a wonderful piece of equipment. She loves every minute in the tub and has no fear of the water. Of course, we keep very close watch every minute she is in the boat.—MRS. D. W. M.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I have recently become the proud owner of several very old porcelain washbowl and pitcher sets. I would like to display them in my home but they have dark yellow stains in the cracks and the bottoms of the bowls. I have tried bleach, cleansers and scrubbing pads but to no avail. I hope one of the readers will have the solution as I would like to make them as presentable as possible.—MRS. J. F. W.

DEAR POLLY—Place a card with your name and telephone number AT WORK on the inside of the windshield of your car. In case of an accident to the car while it is parked, you can be promptly notified. A thoughtful parking attendant called me when he noticed one of my tires had gone flat. Thanks to him, I was able to be home on time as I could get my tire fixed before quitting time.—MYRA

DEAR POLLY—and Marinette—I am pleased to pass on the method I use for removing grease spots from wallpaper. Mix fuller's earth with noninflammable cleaning fluid to make a paste. Apply to the spot and allow to remain there until dry. Brush the powder off the wall and the spot will be gone.—BARBARA

GIRLS—If a circle should remain, apply a mixture of powder and water, let dry and wipe off. If the paper has strong colors and a pattern, try an inconspicuous spot, or a leftover piece, to see if the fluid causes any "running" of colors.—POLLY

Viewing War With Pessimism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders with varying ideas of how the war should be fought are reviewing the military situation in Vietnam with more than usual pessimism.

There are rising complaints the conflict has become almost wholly an American war. There is skepticism about Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's reports of substantial military progress.

There is general acceptance that more U.S. troops will be sent to Asia and that the administration will be back in January for a $4 billion to $6 billion increase in the military budget.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., and Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., raised the "American war" issue. Byrd, who wants greater military efforts made to end the conflict, took McNamara to task for saying the United States had not requested its allies to supply more troops.

Byrd, a Senate Armed Services Committee member, said it wasn't enough just to discuss these matters with other nations. He said troop requests should be laid on the line, lest the point be reached where Americans are doing all the fighting.

Laird, who heads the House Republican Conference, said in a statement that U.S. casualties are outrunning those of the South Vietnamese two to one.

President Johnson told a news conference Tuesday that sometimes the Americans lost more men because of the places in which they are fighting. The situation fluctuates, he said.

He added he didn't think anything really is gained "by pointing out that this country or that country lost more yesterday than the one the day before."

Long, a member of the House Appropriations subcommittee on military spending, added: "We cannot and should not take over unlimited defense of a land that is not making the greatest possible contribution to its own self-preservation."

Trash Men Argue Case

Problems seem to have arisen for the City Council over the closing of the old disposal or dump grounds south of Sedalia on Flat Creek and the opening of a new location near Beaman. Trash haulers were at the Monday night Council meeting protesting the fact they would not be permitted to use the new dump grounds.

Donald L. Smith, who spoke for a group of haulers who were in the audience, presented a petition of protest on a ruling they would not be permitted to use the new grounds. Smith said he had heard the old dump grounds would be closed Friday, 'and I think,' he said, 'the people should be told about these things.'

No Decision Yet

Councilman Jerry Jones, chairman of the Sewer and Sanitation committee, answered Smith with 'The opening of the new grounds has not been decided on, and it seems everybody but those involved seem to know we are closing the old grounds. The closing date of the grounds has not been decided upon.'

Jones went on to say the State Water Pollution Board had been pushing for the move and it was not the city which instigated it. 'There are many problems,' Jones said, 'regarding the ruling, and we must look toward taking care of the majority of the taxpayers and operate the disposal grounds as it should be.'

Smith contended the city should furnish the haulers a place to dump their trash. 'We are willing to pay, but we cannot go out and buy land at $1,000 an acre for this. We are poor people and we do this to make a living to support our families.'

In his remarks Smith also called attention to a new ordinance which calls for trash haulers to have trucks with enclosed bodies to haul trash. 'I would like to know just what kind of truck the city or state wants, if they are those compact ones, I sure can't afford to buy one, but I am willing to tie a canvas top on my truck to keep trash or papers from scattering along the street or highway.

States Their Case

'Really, we haulers have done the city a big favor in helping to keep it clean. We haul a lot of trash and rubbish off to the dump. Sedalia's a beautiful city and we want to keep it that way. We haulers, although we get paid for it, do the city a big favor. I think the city should think of this too. There are citizens who haul their own trash to the dump, what about them?' he said.

Jones told the group, 'I feel you haulers have the ingenuity to find a place to dump.' Smith then remarked about land they had investiagted but found too expensive.

E. Glenn Lewis, Zero Market, told of the boxes which come to his store and have to be carted off. He told the Council these haulers have been hauling his stuff for which he pays them.

Gene Gregory of the Coca Bottling Co., asked where their truck could go to dump. 'We haul off a truck load of stuff everyday, and I feel there are others like us. I am not complaining but I would like to know what we can do.'

Bill Couhig of W. E. Bards Drug Co., told the Council, 'these fellows eke out a living hauling trash. Something should be done and I would suggest the city investigate what other communities do about their trash.'

Fear of Loss

Mayor Ralph Walker explained, 'the city was having trouble over the new grounds and we certainly do not want to take any chances of losing this new dump.'

James 'Jim' Jackson, another hauler, took the floor and said, 'I ain't ready to retire yet. I have seven or eight kids over there and just want to keep on making a living for them. We are all poor people and have to scuffle for what we get. We want to get along with you folks, and hope you all will do something for us.'

The mayor assured the group an effort would be made to see what can be done before closing of the old dump grounds.

Could Be Exempt From War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has ruled that any serviceman who loses a relative in Vietnam may be kept out of the war for at least six months.

If the serviceman already is in Vietnam, he may be removed from the war zone for a similar period.

In either case, he must apply for the special treatment in writing himself — his father, mother, or wife cannot.

The language reads this way: 'Where a member of a family is killed or dies as a result of Vietnam service, other members of the same family will, on request, either be deferred from assignment to Vietnam for a period of at least six months following date of death or, if serving in Vietnam, be reassigned there from for the same minimum period."

The directive does not define "family" and no figures were issued on how many families have more than one member now in Vietnam.

Cities Following Tampa

NEW YORK (AP) — Fifty Negro youths wearing white helmets strode into Tampa's rioting Negro section last month in the name of law and order and helped end three nights of terror.

Tampa is having second thoughts about the "White Hats" now but the idea of sending boys and girls, some of them on the city payroll, to do a man's job is spreading almost as fast as are the number of American cities hit by Negro rioting.

At least a dozen cities have either proposed or established variety of programs, all geared to one aim: Get Negro youths into trouble spots to persuade their neighbors, young or old, to "cool it."

Some city officials even hope they can use the teen-agers as kind of early warning system to head off trouble before it start.

Tampa's initial success with its White Hats, some of whom had been among the rioters the night before they were drafted to help end the rioting, has bee repeated in some fashion in at least three other disturbances in Dayton, Otio; Hartford, Conn., and Plainfield, N.J.

In Dayton, the corps of White Hats was so successful last month it is 160 members ar being organized into a permanent corps of "peace ambassadors."

In Plainfield, three young men, one a Black Muslim, were used Monday night as couriers in a successful effort after three nights of disturbances to negotiate with warring Negro youths. They were the only avenue the city had to the rioters.

In Hartford, Negro clergymen and other leaders skirted official channels and on their own sent young men into last week's riots to help keep things under control. Police Capt. Benjamin Goldstein said he is considering training a more formal corps.

A 'police reports' item in Monday's Sedalia Democrat and Tuesday's Sedalia Capital stated Joe Adams, Warsaw, and Charles Lemmon, Kansas City, were related. Both figured in an incident from which charges arose. Neither is related.

"Firebird Suite" Gets Flash Finish

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Igor Stravinsky may not have scored real lightning for the climax to his "Firebird Suite," but he got it Tuesday during a rehearsal of the London Symphony Orchestra.

We were right at the peak of the number," said Andre Previn, "when along came a crash and a flash."

The lightning struck the top of the building near skylights that illuminate the stage. A corner of Peabody Auditorium was knocked off, scattering concrete over adjoining streets and yards.

Previn is guest conductor of the orchestra which is appearing at the Florida International Music Festival at Daytona Beach.

Space Capsule Moored In Yard

SOUTH LYON, Mich. (AP) — Two dirty but happy 11-year-old boys emerged Tuesday after four days in a wooden earth-bound "space capsule."

The junior astronauts, Dale Kern and David Boatman, had the spacecraft moored in the backyard of the Kern home. Mrs. Kelvin Kern, Dale's mother, kept the boys supplied with food and things seemed much like real space exploration—except that every eight hours each boy gota 10-minute toilet break.

Detour Confusion Said Death Cause

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Confusion caused by a new detour apparently led to the death Tuesday of Willard Fridel, struck down by a tractor-trailer truck at the intersection of U. S. 71 and Northwest 56th Street.

Fridel was a 48-year-old sheet metal foreman at the Trans World Airlines overhaul base at Mid-Continent International airport.
